SKINNY KIBBLES

Around
And
About
Town

SKIRVIN

Thirty-two years ago on my first visit to Santa Ana the then citizens were predicting a flood. We've had a few of them in more or less miniature since that time. I've not been content with the performance. Guess I got my ideas of a flood reading about Noah's experience, so the few floods which have visited Orange county failed to measure up to my opinion of a major act. Now the prospect for the predicted disaster has been removed by the voters of Orange county who endorsed a conservation control program, and I might as well turn in my ticket. There ain't goin' be no flood. It only goes to show if you talk about a thing long enough you will be able to get enough people to accept your opinion, and in this case it is well that we did a lot of talking because we have finally got not only what we want but what we need. We not only have a flood control but we have a unified county.

I got a laugh out of it, and the party of my acquaintance didn't get what he ordered. It was election day. He had company, and he wanted to put a little kick into the proceedings. That was his business. Selling was the dealer's business. He didn't sell.

And then there was the fellow who ran out of gas and had his friend cash a check. Now go on with the rest of the story. You know it as well as I do, but it made the bank a lot of extra work.

Having a natural antipathy to questionnaires and other forms of impertinence, an acquaintance who had received one of the objections noticed the inquiry as to his age. He replied as follows: "I was born a long time ago. When is irrelevant. The important thing about it to me is that I am still alive."

After all, said the bug, it don't make much difference where the rug is, just so there's something under it when I arrive. Which, if you apply it to the human equation, suggests the same conclusion. However, a lot of fellows are about something or other. Mostly about.

Newspaper friend asked another how to spell the name of a certain newspaper, he couldn't do it, and I laughed. That's why I laughed.

My K. C. friends are going to give away an automobile at Santiago park Aug. 8. The time and the place isn't so important, as to who gets the car. That invidious will be considered lucky. And he or she will be. We are born speculators. We like the element of chance. But you won't have a chance unless you hold a ticket. How to get one can be answered by some of the K. C. boys who know more about the proposition than I do.

The orange belt philosopher said: "Didja ever notice that the individual who is repressed at home is oppressive when away from home?"

My friend Curry, formerly of the county welfare department, and in passing may I say it was for the welfare of the department that he was with it, got a hand from the opposition a few days ago. Same old story. A prophet is not without honor save in his own country, and an efficient official is only appreciated after he loses his job. But Curry has another. A good man is sought.

Now that the flood control problem has been solved, bring on your other county problems. The temperance of the people is now for solution, not controversy.

In rebuttal: I said that Rodney Bacon said there would be 150 mayors here to attend the Major Disaster Committee meeting and Rodney says he didn't say what I said he said. He says he said 150 guests. The only reason I admit he said what he said is that he got 100 other fellows who were at the meeting to agree with him. I (See SKINNY, Page 2)

Egypt's First King, Farouk I, Seated in Oriental Ceremonies

CAIRO, Egypt. (AP)—The glory of Egypt's ancient Pharaohs was reborn today when His Majesty Farouk the First, a stalwart, firm-chinned youth of 18, was invested as the first king of an independent Egypt. He vowed "by Almighty God to respect and obey the constitution and laws of the Egyptian people, safeguard my country's independence and defend its territory."

With royal dignity, the husky

SANTA MAN TAUGHT YOUNG KING IN TURKEY

One Santa Ana man can take a personal interest in the coronation of young King Farouk of Egypt today.

He is Calvin C. Flint, dean of men at Santa Ana Junior college.

While Flint was a faculty member of Roberts College in Istanbul, Turkey, King Farouk, then a prince, was enrolled in one of his classes. The Jaycee instructor was connected with the institution during the school year of 1933-34.

Flint took the oath before his assembled chamber and senate to become king of Misr, lord of Nebia and the Sudan and sovereign of Kordofan and Darfour. Subjects (See EGYPT GETS, Page 2)

THIRD POLAR HOP STARTS

FAIRBANKS, Alaska. (AP)—Daylight around the clock and ideal weather conditions most of the way lay ahead of a projected third Soviet transpolar airplane flight from Moscow today to an announced destination in America.

An American-trained pilot, Sigismund Levanevsky, known as the "Lindbergh of Russia," was reported scheduled to take off at 5 a. m. Pacific standard time with three to five other persons in a four-motored plane. Absence of a word of a takeoff after the announced time recalled delay of Moscow in announcing previous transpolar flights.

Fairbanks was listed as a refueling stop. A group of Russian engineers hastily completed setting up the refueling station here, where the plane can land, take on gas and then fly on possibly to Chicago or New York.

From here to within 1500 miles of Moscow, it is daylight 24 hours a day at this time of the year.

1ST SWORDFISH AT NEWPORT

"Big game" fishermen greeted with cheers today the news that the season's first marlin swordfish was brought ashore yesterday at Newport-Balboa.

Frank Crocker, Balboa Angling club official, reported that F. Horner, Washington, D. C., brought in a 305-pound marlin aboard the "Daisy" piloted by Capt. Jimmie Stevenson.

The fish, especially large for an early-season catch, fought three hours and 45 minutes before being subdued.

Hubby Spent More Time in Jail Than He Did With Her

Alleging her husband has been in jail for the penitentiary all but 10 days of their 29 months of married life, Mrs. Alvera Mueller Starke today filed suit in superior court asking an annulment of her marriage to Bart Starke.

Starke represented himself, she alleges, as an honest and industrious man when they were married Feb. 18, 1935, but concealed the fact that he was guilty of a felony.

On Feb. 23, she alleges, he was arrested on grand theft charges, convicted, and sentenced to Folsom prison. His sentence now has been set at seven and one-half years. She asks that the marriage be annulled and that she be permitted to resume her maiden name of Alvera Mueller.

SURPLUS LEFT IN BOND FUND

Surprise! That's what the Orange County Flood Control campaign committee, which handled the campaign for the water bond issue, will say to a large group of citizens and concerns soon.

And it will be surprise to those who donated funds to help promote a favorable interest in the $2,500,000 water bond issue when they get part of their money back!

As far as is known, for the first time in local history a committee in charge of a campaign ended its work without a deficit, and what's more, with a neat cash balance.

The committee has about $1000 left which was not used.

This money will be presented back to those who helped pay expenses of the campaign, a plan of the committee, which will meet to wind up business details next Friday.

A. J. McFadden, Santa Ana, who acted as chairman of the committee, now is in Fresno, but he will return in time for the meeting set for Friday.

The campaign was the most successful bond campaign ever staged in this county. After having been defeated three times, the water bond issue carried by the overwhelming majority of nearly 10 to 1.

Install 100 Legion Auxiliary Officers

Approximately 100 newly-elected officers of American Legion auxiliaries of Orange county will be installed at a joint ceremony tonight at the local Legion hall.

Mrs. Lillian Thorpe of Garden Grove, county council president, will be in charge of the affair, at which 250 persons are expected to be. A dance will follow the installation.

Home Was Never Like This, Say 9 Men in a Tank

By LAURIE CAVANAUGH
Nine college men in a tank—yo ho, and a bottle of what!

Right next to the Pomona Marine College laboratory on Coast boulevard at Broadway, in Laguna Beach, there's an old water tower, used in years past for the summer school water supply. Little did Lagunans know that the water tower was being occupied through the summer by nine brave college boys, until last week, a self-appointed investigator decided to investigate.

Seeing socks, shirts, bathing trunks and other bits of clothing flapping in the breeze on the wire fence beside the tank roused the

AMERICANS ENDANGERED IN ATTACK

Thousands Killed as Japan Planes Strike

(By The Associated Press)

Flames from Japanese aerial bombardments roared through sections of Tientsin tonight after planes bearing the red insignia of the Rising Sun took a toll declared by Chinese to be thousands of non-combatant men, women and children killed and injured.

The bombardment, carried out by the Japanese in an attempt to rout a Chinese attack that threatened to drive Japanese from the city, endangered the lives of many Americans and other foreigners.

CLAIM 'PROTECTION'

Lieut. Gen. Kiyoshi Katsuki, Japanese commander in North China, told foreign consuls the action was to "protect" the 10,000 Japanese who live in the Tientsin Japanese concession. He declared his men acted in accordance with the Boxer protocol of 1901 in which China undertook not to station troops within two miles of Tientsin.

Among the 1376 Americans in Tientsin was Lieut. Paul W. Caraway, son of Senator Hattie W. Caraway of Arkansas.

Peace came to Peiping and its environs when Chinese troops withdrew and Gen. Sung Chieh Yuan, commander of the 29th Chinese army, went out and Gen. Chang Tau-Chung, pro-Japanese commander of the 38th division became chief authority in the area.

FOREIGNERS IMPERILED

In Tokyo, Japan's foreign minister, Koki Hirota, told the diet the Japanese government would reject any "interference by a third power in the conflict."

PROBE STRANGE DEATH OF GIRL

Medical authorities today were investigating the strange death of R-Dell Harris, 12, of Laguna, who succumbed early this morning in an ambulance on the way to a Long Beach hospital.

The girl, daughter of Mrs. Ramona Harris, had been ill several days, apparently as the result of striking her head while swimming, it was reported. About 1 o'clock last night she began suffocating, authorities said, and although a fire department inhalator was used, she died about 3 a. m. today while being rushed to the hospital.

The girl's mother is well-known in Laguna as owner of the Ramona Studio club.

investigator's curiosity one morning. He heard voices behind closed doors. He knocked. "Come in!" he heard. He went in.

Five fellows, sprawled at full length about various points of the room, looked up. Some were studying, some merely smoking. A radio was playing "Some like that's where Marshall hangs out," down the wooden stairs, the investigator heard the unmistakable sound of an electric razor grating over an educated beard.

"Hullo, fellows," he said and mounted the creaking stairs. Sure enough, on the second floor, a bright-looking fellow, blond and

Fear S. A. Teacher Trapped in China

By EDNA WILSON

A Santa Ana grammar school teacher, Miss Marjory Anne Mathes, who is vacationing in Tientsin, China, is in danger of her life as Chinese troops are attacking that city, relatives here feared today.

Last word from Miss Mathes was posted in Yokohama on July 7, the date of the outbreak of hostilities in the Orient. It was received here by her sister, Mrs. W. P. Croddy, 1420 N. Broadway. No word from Miss Mathes has been received here since she arrived in China.

Sailing from San Francisco on the S. S. President Coolidge on June 26, Miss Mathes was to arrive in Shanghai July 13. She was to travel from there to Tientsin, then to Tsing-Tao, Chinese sea resort, also in the war area.

Tientsin is being occupied by Japanese troops who took the city after a surprise attack last week. According to press dispatches, British, American and other foreign legations are throwing up barricades.

Miss Mathes is believed to be visiting with a former college roommate, Miss Catherine Harr, in the home of the British consul, Col. C. H. Rabbit, in Tientsin. The entire city is now cut off from all communication.

A teacher of the second and third grades here, she is a native of Texas, but was graduated from Santa Ana High school before attending Occidental college. While there she was the roommate of Miss Harr, who is now teaching in an American school in Tientsin and living in the British consulate.

EXTORTION PAIR HELD

Two Fullerton youths will face superior court trial as a result of an extortion plot against John Wollenman, Fullerton trucker.

Joe Basabe, 26, and Frank McConaughy, 24, were held to answer to the higher court today at a preliminary hearing in Anaheim city court. They were returned to the county jail in lieu of $5000 bail each.

McConaughy is a former employee of Wollenman. The pair is accused of telephoning the trucking operator and instructing him to mail $1000 in $20 bills to general delivery, Pomona. McConaughy was arrested when he gave a change of address at the Pomona postoffice for "C. E. Parker," the name used in the telephone conversation.

Santa Fe Fire Burns 3 Wells

SANTA FE SPRINGS. (AP)—Fire that destroyed three oil well derricks and pumping equipment here was brought under control today after threatening to spread through the valuable field. County firemen estimated the damage would amount to $30,000.

G. G. Griswold, battalion fire chief, said a spark or backfire from a gasoline pumping engine at one of the wells apparently started the blaze, which spread rapidly to the other two.

"You gotta climb through the window to get to the tankhouse—that's where Marshall hangs out," the shaver replied. The investigator felt it was about time to ask questions, and this is what he found out!

USES AXE TO LOP OFF HAND

SAN FRANCISCO. —From Alcatraz island came a story today that one of the convicts in the prison fortress had deliberately chopped off his hand with an axe.

The story, which prison authorities did not deny, published in the San Francisco Chronicle, named the prisoner only as "Perchival."

Secretly obtaining an axe, he filed the edge to razor-sharpness. Then he took it in his right hand, placed his left hand on a block and with a sweeping stroke, severed the hand.

He is said to have handed the axe to another prisoner with the plea: "Cut off my right hand."

But the second convict was horrified and called guards. The maimed man was rushed to the hospital. No motive for the action was advanced.

James Johnson, warden of the federal institution, would neither deny nor confirm the story.

Jaguar Attacks Long Beach Girl

LONG BEACH. (AP)—Mauled by a pet jaguar, Jessica Kendall was in a serious condition today in St. Mary's hospital.

The jaguar, chained to the deck of a yacht, leaped upon the girl and bit and scratched her before three deckhands beat it off.

Whether or not the mice had been caught, the boys didn't say. Aside from ants (everybody's having them down here now) and mice, the men aren't bothered much.

The boys live a good, stable domestic life, what with Alice to take care of them. The nine fellows will enjoy—they say they enjoy it—their tankhouse life until fall, when they'll be going back to Stanford and Pomona. Predominantly, they're Pomonans, all working under Dr. William Hill-ton at the laboratory and in the water, fishing for specimens and things.

LOYAL KING, JOHN MEURS BUY ACREAGE

Triple Deal Shows Grove Prices Today

Transfer of ownership of three orange groves, involving purchase prices totaling $100,000 was announced today by Walter A. Tubbach and Walter A. Cook, Santa Ana real estate brokers.

The triple deal brought a sudden break to a period of inertia in orchard buying due, leaders in the industry believe, to unfavorable weather conditions of the past winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyal King, Panorama Heights, made the major purchase when they bought a 10-acre grove of seven-year-old valencias located as a part of the San Joaquin Fruit company property on the Irvine ranch from Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heinecke, and a 13-acre grove in the same district from Mr. and Mrs. James Patterson of Laguna Beach.

In the third transaction, Mr. and Mrs. John Meurs of Balboa purchased a 10-acre grove on McFadden street from a group of owners headed by Cook and Tubbach.

The total purchase price involved in the transactions indicate better than $3000 per acre. Significant also is the fact that King is familiar with the industry, and that the Meurs are experienced valencia orange growers.

These investments in the face of the most discouraging year that the valencia orange grower has encountered, is indicative of a faith in an industry particularly favorable to Orange county, agricultural men told The Journal.

2ND BABY FALLS IN BOILING TUB

A deadly hand of fate reached out for the second time in a two-week period early today to dip another Mexican baby into a tub of scalding water.

The victim this time was 10-month-old Herman Ruynaga, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brijido Ruynaga of 22 Lewis Court, Orange. But as yet the burns inflicted by the boiling water have not proven fatal. The baby was reported to be in fair condition at the county hospital, suffering from first and second degree burns.

On July 20, 4-year-old Henry Ysaas of Santa Ana was scalded to death when he fell into a tub of wash water, boiling in his parents' back yard.

Bette Davis Not Seriously Ill

SANTA BARBARA. (AP)—Dr. G. Horace Coshaw, physician to Bette Davis, film actress who is at Carpinteria, near here, said today she had had a "slight sunstroke similar to that she suffered four years ago."

"Her condition this morning is entirely satisfactory and not serious," he said. "There is no apparent danger."

One of these smart city boys came down home one time and he went out fishin' with Grandpaw Snazzy and me and he thought he was gonna show us up because he had all the latest fancy equipment like the bamboo reel and the most expensive rod, and he mighta got away with it if he hadn't happened to hook a fish about five inches long. The fella got so excited, his eyes bulged out and he started reel in this fish in and reeled it right to the end of the pole and then he yanked the pole straight up in the air and sat there, holdin' it and tremblin'.

He turned to Grandpaw Snazzy and he says, "What'll I do with him?" Grandpaw says, "Well, in a case like that, Buddy, I believe I'd climb up the pole and stab him."

EX-MAYOR IN SENSATIONAL ACCUSATIONS

Mulhaddon Denies Work on Property

Political dynamite was tossed into headquarters of the Works Progress Administration here today.

Former Mayor A. T. Smith of San Clemente hurled the dynamite with a charge that public money is being expended to improve and sell private property in San Clemente.

Smith has contracted national officials in Washington, D. C. The Journal learned today. He has demanded a sweeping investigation of the WPA setup in Orange county, charging that "things are rotten down here."

Smith said it is his firm belief that more WPA money is being expended in San Clemente per capita than in any community in Orange county. He said it is his belief that WPA projects being put through for San Clemente are being carried on for the sole purpose of improving private property which is for sale.

"HAM" COTTON NAMED
This private property, Smith said, belongs to the Bank of America and to Hamilton Cotton, distributor of Democratic patronage in this district.

Smith told The Journal that he has not heard from the national officials yet in regard to the investigation he has demanded. It was learned that Senator William Gibson McAdoo, Senator Hiram Johnson, Harry Hopkins, national WPA administrator, and others have been contacted and asked to launch an investigation into the local WPA situation.

Dan Mulhaddon, who is head of the division of operations for the Works Progress Administration in Orange county, also is mayor of San Clemente.

Mulhaddon said today that WPA projects have been operated in San Clemente in the same manner as in other cities. He said that all communities of the county which have applied for WPA projects have been granted government funds for the work needed. He denied that WPA funds were being expended for private interests in the Spanish Village.

F. B. Young, state Works Progress administration field representative, was in Santa Ana today. A Young was conferring with Dan Mulhaddon, head of the division of operations for WPA in Orange county. The state official connected with the division of operations, said his visit here was routine.

I'll Tell You

By BOB BURNS

City people laugh at us country boys when we come to town and they like to watch our discomfort at a table because we don't know how to order from a French menu and maybe we don't know what salad fork to use. We have trouble gettin' the right street car and things like that, but when the city man comes to the country, we get just as much of a kick out of watchin' him.

One of these smart city boys came down home one time and he went out fishin' with Grandpaw Snazzy and me and he thought he was gonna show us up because he had all the latest fancy equipment like the bamboo reel and the most expensive rod, and he mighta got away with it if he hadn't happened to hook a fish about five inches long. ## EGYPT GETS FIRST KING wildly celebrated his ascending marked here by fanfare and elaborate ritual.

Farouk will be strictly a constitutional monarch. Shouts of "Yehia el Malek"—"long live the king!"—throughout his land echoed the acclaim that broke out among the select assembly in the parliament building.

There is no crown of Egypt and the ceremony was an investiture rather than a coronation in the western sense. The suggestion that Farouk should be crowned with the 3000-year-old diadem of Tut-Ankh-Amen had been overruled because of the actual crowning of a king is not in accord with Islamic law.

Farouk is the first invested king of Egypt. His father, Fuad, the first, had changed the title from the traditional one of sultan to king.

Unprecedented thousands jammed Cairo's streets, heedless of the scorching heat, before and after the investiture. They were jammed along the two-mile procession route from Ibn palace to the parliament building. Balconies, windows and roofs were bright with thousands of red fezzes.

Burly Egyptian infantrymen held back the cheering crowds while Farouk in the full dress uniform of a field marshal, rode by in his gilded state coach. Farouk was accompanied by his premier, Mustafa el-Nahas Pasha. His uncle, Sherif Sabhy Pasha, and Aziz Pasha Izzet, two of the three men who have ruled for him as a council of regency since his father died in April, last year, preceded Farouk in a bright red limousine.

A young man, still lacking his full majority under Egyptian law, had become ruler of a nation which only last year gained its independence under the Anglo-Egyptian treaty of alliance at the end of 35 years of British military occupation.

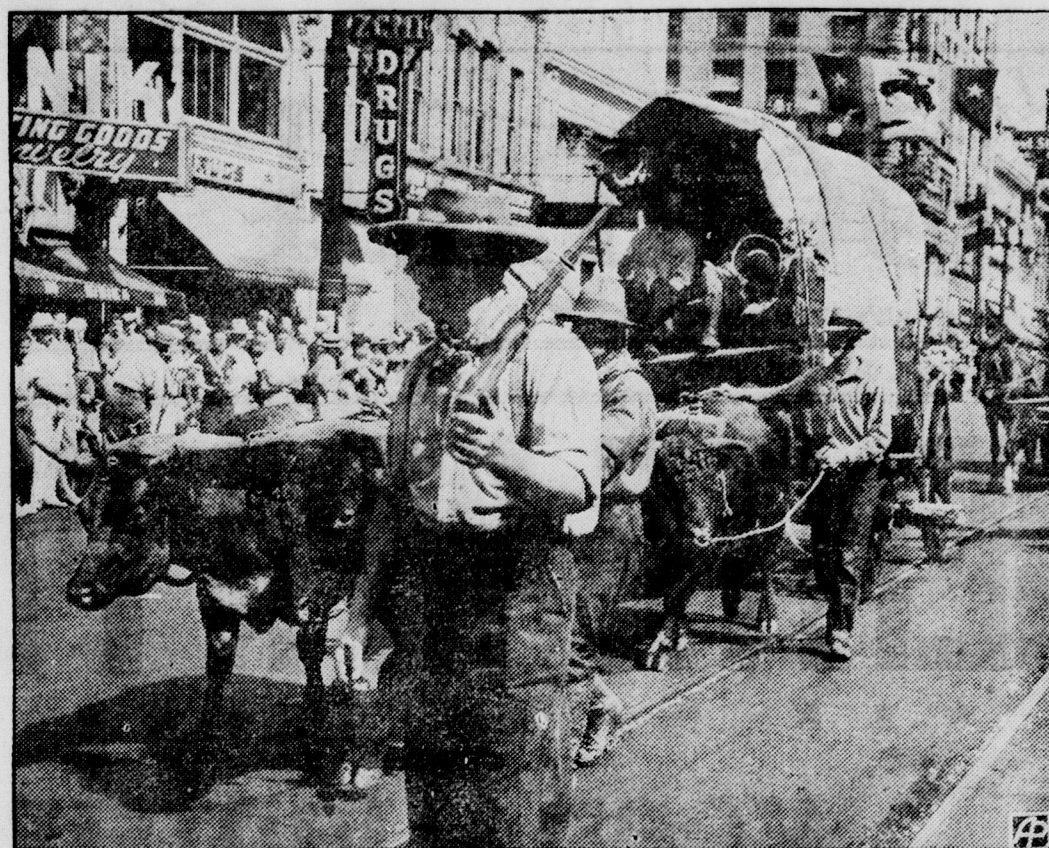

Bert Pash, United States minister to Egypt, was present in the diplomatic box at the investiture, alongside princes, ministers and the flower of Egyptian and Arabic nobility.

Madeline La Ferriere a one-year suspended sentence after a speedy trial on charges of shooting Count Charles De Chambrun, who she accused of breaking up her friendship with Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy. The judges fined the woman 100 francs ($3.75).

The young woman was charged with assault and illegal possession of three revolvers after she shot De Chambrun, former French ambassador to Italy.

didn't mind advertising the appearance of 150 mayors from Southern California cities, but when Rodney confined the statement to Orange county, then I felt like I had told the truth in the first place.

And then there is the fellow who is always ready to give advice, who barricades the door of receptivity. That's the fellow who is so smart you can't tell him anything. Those cases are hopeless.

I've been cheated. An earthquake comes along Monday night and fails to give me notification. Oh, well, it's too late now, so "git along, little earthquake, git along." I still have a headache remembering the one which came in March 10, 1933.

Floyd Stanley, shoe repairer on North Broadway, is sick. In the hospital. Hope his affliction won't last long. Floyd is so conscientious and attentive about his work, he has suffered a nervous breakdown. The business must go on, however, and the little red-headed daughter is running the shop with a consistency and devotion like that of dear old dad. Lot of Stanley's friends drop in to inquire about him. That's nice, but it isn't enough. I can't solicit business for anyone through this column, but I can come mighty close to it. What Stanley's friends hope for more than anything else is the prompt restoration of his health so he can attend to his own business, and so can I.

Storm Hits Imperial Valley

EL CENTRO. (AP)—Telephone trouble crews rushed repairs today to nearly 80 lines torn down by last night's heavy wind and dust storm.

The wind was general throughout Imperial valley. At Calexico the dust was so thick it became a traffic hazard.

For more than an hour El Centro was without power, and merchants used candles. Trees were blown in city and country districts. Rain and lightning followed the high wind.

Powder Blast Endangers Studio

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Officials of the Sam Goldwyn firm set at United Artists studio today surveyed the damage caused by fire following an explosion of a powder magazine.

The blast occurred last night, apparently from spontaneous combustion, and the flames did damage estimated at $15,000 before they were extinguished.

Production had ceased for the day and all actors had left the lot before the explosion.

Wounded

The navy department has announced that Private Julius F. Fliszar (above) of the mounted marine detachment in Peiping, China, had been wounded by unaimed rifle fire during a clash between Chinese and Japanese soldiers.

SON OF BRIDGE VICTIM SUES

SAN BERNARDINO. (AP)—The damage suit brought in behalf of a son of one of the victims of the Golden Gate bridge scaffolding accident continued here today.

The state industrial accident commission transferred the hearing from San Francisco to take testimony of relatives of the victim, Louis F. Russell.

No specific damages are asked in the suit, which charges "misconduct on the part of the Pacific Bridge Company," and was brought by Russell's widow in behalf of her son, Charles Franklin Russell, age 3.

Seek Cause of Plane-Car Crash

MARCH FIELD. (AP)—A collision between a landing army plane and a parker coupe, only obstacle on a mile-square field, was investigated by March Field officers today.

Second Lieutenant Charles D. Daly, pilot of the badly-damaged plane, blamed the mishap on faulty brakes and a cross wind at the end of his flight from Fresno last night.

Neither he nor a passenger, Second Lieutenant William M. Ross, of the 95th attack squadron, was hurt. The coupe was demolished.

MOONEY MARCH FIZZLE HERE

If South Main street WPA project workers had trekked to San Francisco for a mass demonstration Monday to free Tom Mooney, demand restoration of lopped-off clients to relief rolls and union wages for released workers—Dan Mulherron, chief of the county WPA, might have refused their demands for pay for lost time.

But nobody went. Mulherron said today he had seen a copy of a printed broadside, assertedly distributed to South Main street project workers by the Workers Alliance, WPA union, but had no knowledge that they actually had been distributed. He knows of no Orange county WPA workers who went on the protest march, either. And he has had no demands from the union or its members.

Mulherron was quoted by members of the Costa Mesa Alliance group as being "on their principles 100 per cent." He said today he believed in their right to organize, and that the alliance had made no trouble here.

"If they want to organize," he said, "it's all right with me. But they haven't made any demands on me or my office."

China's Buses Turn Vegetarian

KUNMING, Yunnan Province China. (AP)—Peanuts, tea and seed of poppies, cotton or cabbage furnish fuel for China's vegetable-oil buses and trucks.

Developed for economical reasons, since the high tariff on gasoline makes vegetable oil 86 per cent cheaper, the engines have proved their practicability on the recent Nanjing-Kunming caravan trip, which was made to mark the inauguration of a new highway.

States Vary Their Styles of Stills

HOUSTON. (AP)—Federal Judge Charles B. Kennamer of Birmingham, Ala., says the moonshiners of Alabama and Texas have different ideas as to the best place to secrete a still.

"In Alabama," he explains, "they operate the stills in the mountains. In Texas you find them in private residences. To me it is a novel situation when you find such things in a home."

Imitation Flower Sales in Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Sweden. (American Wire)—A final count finished today showed that during the 30 years that a small artificial flower has been sold on streets here every May 1, a total of $2,125,000 has been raised. The money is used to combat tuberculosis and to send poor children into the country.

TIENTSIN IN FLAMES AS BOMBS HIT

Thousands Die From Japanese Air Attack

declared the acute situation compelled them to ignore "earlier assurances not to expose the city's foreign residents to peril."

Wave on wave of bombing squadrons set many of Tientsin's principal buildings afire, particularly the railroad center, and burned the international bridge connecting the foreign concessions and the Chinese city.

Bombs rained on densely populated Chinese quarters. One village, on Tientsin's outskirts, was an inferno.

AMERICANS SEEK SAFETY

Both at Tientsin and Peiping, Americans huddled in the cellars of the foreign concessions and swarmed for safety in embassy compounds, spurred to shelter by memories of foreign slayings during the Boxer rebellion of 1900.

American commercial investments in the area are about $25,000,000, mostly in Tientsin. In Washington, Secretary of State Cordell Hull said a wholesale evacuation of Americans would be undertaken only in a grave emergency.

CHINESE ATTACK

Three Chinese armies—the 26th, 29th and 40th—attacked in concert to gain the strategic Tientsin area and cut Japanese communications with the interior.

Striking at Japanese entrenchments along a 55-mile front, the Chinese carried out their offensive from Tangku, Tientsin's port, 20 miles to the east, to Fentai, Japanese field headquarters, west of Peiping.

The attack was sudden, swift and strong. It drove the Japanese from Tientsin's three key railroad stations and the Japanese concession, precipitating the furious Japanese aerial and artillery bombardment of the city.

MAY EVACUATE ALL AMERICANS FROM TSINGTAO

TSINGTAO, China. (AP)—American authorities made plans today to evacuate all American residents and summer visitors from Tsingtao if it becomes necessary. Americans expressed uneasiness because of possible Japanese naval action here, including the landing of troops, if the Chinese-Japanese crisis continues.

War vessels were reported near the city, which is on the Yellow Sea south and east of Tientsin, but the reports were not confirmed by officials.

"ONLY THE BEGINNING" SAYS GEN. KAI-SHEK

NANKING. (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, head of China's central government, declared in a statement circulated throughout the nation tonight that China will not surrender to Japanese pressure.

Chiang said negotiations with Japan were impossible under present conditions. He dismissed North China reverses with the statement that "this was only the beginning" of hostilities.

Flash! Deer Invade Hunters' Domain

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—In the autumn, Washington hunters tramp through forests in search of deer, but, in the summer—

At Aberdeen, a city of 21,000 population, angry housewives looked at a block of ruined flower gardens. A fawn had wandered into town for lunch, stayed most of the afternoon and then wandered out again.

At Wenatchee, a city of 11,000, a police officer looked twice at a large "dog" on a downtown business street early in the morning. It was a doe, which apparently had just come to town from a swim across the Columbia river.

Stogie Smoker, Six, Worries About Younger Generation

WEST PATERSON, N. J. (AP)—Charles (Mickey) Norman, jr., flicked ashes from a good five-cent cigar, and with all the worldly wisdom of his five years behind the leaf reflected ruefully today on the younger generation. Today's sixth birthday, and Mickey's getting along in years. Many a crank letter has come through the mails to his parents' home since that day in 1932 when their 8-month-old baby shoved away his bottle and reached for a pipe.

Less than a year later Mickey was gurgling with a stogie sticking out of the corner of his mouth. Told that some western upstart was smoking cigars at 22 months, the veteran smoker fell into a habit of his elders. He couldn't understand what this world's coming to anymore.

"It's all right for a fellow of 6 or more to smoke," he observed. "But a kid of two'll get sick."

For that matter, Mickey—who took off a few minutes from some important water pistol practice—doesn't think so much of women smoking, either.

"I told grandma not to smoke," Mickey declared. "It'll get you sick," I said."

Discovery May Help Eliminate Blood Clotting

STOCKHOLM. (American Wire) Blood is kept from clotting by heparin, a sugary substance produced by a special type of body cells known as mast cells, according to a report made by Dr. Hjalmar Holmgren of the Caroline Institute here. Scientists hope the discovery of heparin may be of value in preventing blood clots in operations and transfusions. Dr. Holmgren has been studying the relation between the amount of heparin and mast cells in organisms.

Asserts Cows Learn Faster Than Horses

ITHACA, N. Y. (American Wire)—Cows are smarter than horses, according to students of Cornell 11 university agricultural school.

Horses trust man more and are good at mechanical forms of learning, but cows learn quicker, the students reported after numerous experiments. The cows which give the most milk are the smartest, they declared.

Man, Dog, Make Long Sea Trip

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—A man and a dog put out to sea at Halifax, Nova Scotia a year ago in a 23-foot ketch stopped over here today en route to Vancouver, B. C. The man is William A. Crowell, 57. The dog is Togo. Crowell, who sailed into port yesterday, said he will continue his argosy within a few days.

Garlic and Onion Useful Germicide

LOS ANGELES. (American Wire)—Garlic and the onion embody the chemical acrolein, which is an effective germicide for certain types of microbes, Professor R. E. Vollrath of the University of Southern California announces. The smell in no way aids the germ killing qualities.

NEW MADRID ATTACK IS PLANNED

Russian General Dies In Insurgent Drive

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier. (AP)—Spanish insurgent military authorities said today the "Russian commander" of an international government brigade had been killed defending Madrid. Dispatches identified the commander as "General Arubensco" and said further that the "foreign chief" of the fourth international brigade was captured with all his general staff.

Insurgent sources said a new offensive against government held Santander, on the Bay of Biscay, was "imminent."

Gen. Francisco Franco's eastern army was reported today to have driven across the Teruel-Cuenca provincial border, poised like a scalpel over the Spanish government's Madrid-Valencia lifeline.

While the battle for Madrid lapsed into a deadlocked lull, the insurgent chieftain's legions, some 100 miles east of Madrid, were reported thrusting slowly south from the rocky Albarracin sector toward the provincial capital Cuenca.

The drive was aimed at the vital highway link between Madrid and Valencia. Mediterranean port and temporary capital of the Republican government.

Southwest's First Get a Museum

TUMACACORI, ARIZ. (AP)—Graphic representations of the daily lives of prehistoric inhabitants of the southwest will be shown in an old Spanish mission here when the new museum is completed.

The museum will house collections of artifacts, charts, maps, photographs and other descriptive matter, as well as dioramas to tell the story of a period of nearly two and a half centuries ago.

TERROR REIGN IN IRELAND DRAWS FIRE

Itinerary for King's Trip Brings Criticism

LONDON. (AP)—Protest against the official arrangements that took King George and Queen Elizabeth to Northern Ireland for a coronation celebration that was marred by widespread political terrorism was voiced here today.

The Daily Mirror, referring to the peril involved in the visit yesterday, said:

"May we ask why it was thought necessary for the king and queen to go to Belfast?"

NO ARRESTS MADE

Belfast police conducted an exhaustive inquiry of a powerful land mine which exploded near the route of the royal procession but had made no arrests in this connection.

The Ulster authorities declared the explosion, at a warehouse, was planned deliberately and executed but there was no official information it was an attempt on the life of the king.

Rather, it was believed the terrorists had tried to damage the city's main power and light plant, which was nearby.

BLAME REPUBLICANS

The mid-day explosion, within a half-mile from where George and Elizabeth were riding to city hall, was but part of an array of sabotage and terrorism that was credited to Irish Republicans who are opposed to the monarchy.

Northern Ireland's civic guards scoured the desolate hills of the Ulster and Irish Free State frontier where most of the outbreaks occurred—wholesale burning of British customs huts.

Woman Sets World Record In Hop Over Garden Grove

Roaring over Garden Grove at 199 miles an hour, Jacqueline Cochran Odium, woman speed flyer, today had set the women's speed mark for 100 kilometers. She will enter the Bendix transcontinental race in September.

Mrs. Odium already had set one record this week. On Monday she set a women's record for 1000 kilometers by flying from Los Angeles to San Francisco and back at an average speed of 203.89 miles an hour.

JACQUELIN COCHRAN

Yesterday's dash, which to Garden Grove residents was a loud noise in a slightly foggy sky, would have been faster in clear weather, the aviator said. She was forced to fly a compass course all the way from Los Angeles to Garden Grove and back.

The record held by Mrs. Odium as a result of yesterday's speed dash was held by Amelia Earhart with a speed of 175 miles an hour until three months ago, when Mrs. Louise Thaden topped the mark with an average speed of 196 miles.

Mrs. Odium flies a Beechcraft plane with a 600-horsepower Pratt Whitney motor, similar to the ship in which Mrs. Thaden won last year's Bendix race. Paul Mantz, who was Miss Earhart's technical advisor, fills a similar position for Mrs. Odium.

POLIO NURSE ASKS HIGHER PAY RATING

Mary Parks' Case Under Advisement

Mary V. Parks had launched a new battle today to secure more compensation for disability incurred when she contracted polio while employed as a nurse at the Orange County hospital.

She appeared with her attorney before Referee W. Bond of the state industrial accident commission yesterday afternoon in the council chamber of the city hall, to fight for a new rating for her disabilities. She seeks a permanent disability rating now, which would mean more money for her.

The nurse, who with other nurses of the county hospital contracted polio in 1934 during the epidemic at the hospital, has been paid compensation since Nov. 4, 1934. Treatments were stopped March 19, 1937. She had been given treatments at the county hospital. The nurse was represented by Attorney Stephen F. Gallagher, Anaheim. The county hospital and county of Orange, named as defendants in the action, were represented by Deputy District Attorney Harold McCabe.

The case taken under advisement, following presentation of medical evidence.

Sex Complaint Cut to Vagrancy

Although he was first accused of attempting an assault on a 6-year-old Placentia girl, 73-year-old Jose Reyna was beginning a 60-day county jail term today on vagrancy charges.

Reyna will be on probation for two years more, according to the sentence pronounced today by Justice Halsey Spence of Fullerton. Justice Spence dismissed a statutory charge with the consent of Deputy District Attorney J. E. Walker and Defense Attorney N. D. Meyer, and sentenced Reyna on his guilty plea to the vagrancy complaint.

The aged Mexican was arrested after the little girl's brother had told an older sister he was falling. Reyna attempted to assault the little girl in an orchard near their home. His arrest was one of four crimes-against-children cases in Orange county this month.

Closing Ceremony For Bible School

The program will consist of demonstrations of work done during the four-week term. Notebooks and hand work done by the students will also be on display. The featured talk of the evening will be delivered by Mrs. Evelyn McCusky, national director of the Miracle Book club.

Teachers for the daily Bible school were Miss Evelyn Eames of Oakland, Miss Mary Wilson of Los Angeles, Miss Ann Thiele of Beverly Hills, Miss Betty Sutherland of Tustin, and Mrs. Lewis J. Gall, Miss Bethel Bower, Miss Lucille Cowan, Miss Marjorie Pedersen, Miss Joy Donham and Miss Irene Grimshaw, all of Santa Ana.

Abandoned Oil Well Sale Asked

The Four Drillers Contracting and Supply company, suing today in superior court for $2854.82 from four Placentia men and two oil companies, asks permission to buy an abandoned Placentia oil well if the property is foreclosed.

The company, a Los Angeles firm, is suing the California Eastern Oil company, the Placentia Development company, Frederick Libby, Thomas Sharby, John Wintz, and A. J. Belpert, Jr.

The defendants, according to the complaint, purchased $28,000 worth of equipment and incurred rental of $5530.62 for other materials, paying only $2959.80. The Four Drillers company asks that its lien on the abandoned well be adjudged a prior lien, that the property be foreclosed, and that it be permitted to bid on the property at the sheriff's sale.

Rodgers' Friend Dies in Air Crash

Benjamin Mun, oil company executive and one of 15 passengers killed in an airplane crash yesterday, was the personal friend of Joe Rodgers, manager of the Huntington Beach nightclub and Long Beach oil company executive.

EXPLAIN NEW CITRUS LABOR HIRING POLICY

Full Text of 'Open Shop' Statement Given

Full text of the "open shop" policy statement posted in citrus packing house throughout Orange county and the rest of California from Tulare to the Mexican border, was revealed today by the Agricultural Producers' labor committee, with headquarters in the Title Insurance building, Los Angeles.

Denial was given in this statement that the national labor relations act applies to its workers, either in growing or packing operations.

The committee is headed by W. E. Spencer of Whittier as chairman, A. E. Isham, of Redlands, secretary, and Ivan G. McDaniel of Los Angeles, as attorney.

Confusion resulting from claims made by union organizers prompted the formation of the labor committee and, in its program announced yesterday, these points were set forth to employees and the public:

CLAIM EXEMPTION

1. "That Section 2 (3) of the Wagner act, exempting agricultural labor" was intended by congress to exempt all labor used in the growing, harvest and preparing for market of fresh fruit and vegetables in their natural state and thereby exempts workers handling citrus fruit in packing house operations.
2. "Immediate steps will be taken to obtain from the national labor relations board or from a court of final jurisdiction, a ruling exempting such labor from the act's provisions."
3. "Employers in the citrus industry, and in other cooperating agricultural groups, intend to conduct their business and maintain the relationship between employer and employee free from unlawful acts, demands or interference or misleading representations of labor organizers or outside agitators."
4. "Membership in any union is not necessary in order to work in the citrus industry either in growing, harvesting or packing citrus products and employers insist upon the right to meet and bargain with their workers, collectively or individually, whether these employees are union members or not. The industry strongly condemns any policy of intimidation or coercion and pledges its resources to protect all citrus workers in their right to work and to insist that law enforcing agencies furnish adequate and impartial protection to persons and property."

HIT HIRING HALLS

5. "Congress has recognized the necessity of dealing with agricultural labor on a different basis than industrial labor. Because of this and the perishable nature of agricultural products and the many uncontrollable factors in producing and marketing them which might cause ruinous results to workers, growers and the consumer alike, the citrus industry while not opposed to collective bargaining, must be kept free from unjustified strikes and the imposition of 'hiring halls' and the 'closed shop'."
6. "This industry is opposed to the collection of funds from workers with no adequate explanation of the intended use or proper accounting and it is opposed to dealing with irresponsible organizations purporting to represent labor. It recommends appropriate steps be taken to bring about responsibility on the part of labor unions both as to their method of dealing and accounting of funds received from workers."

CITRUS UNION GROWS FAST

As citrus packing houses throughout the county yesterday struck out at organized labor by lacking notices proclaiming "open shop" on their bulletin boards, the fledgling United Citrus Workers of California dealt a counter-blow with the announcement that its membership had been upped by nearly 500 per cent within the last week.

At a meeting of the citrus union last night, Organizer and President Alfred Bollen accepted the applications of 122 new members. A week ago, he said, the membership roll stood at 25.

"I have every reason to expect," Bollen said, "that our growth will continue at an even faster rate in future weeks."

Speaker for last night's meeting which was held in Anaheim, was George B. Roberts, organizer of the United Rubber Workers of America, who outlined the program of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

Roberts listed three points as the major objectives of the CIO: Shortening of hours to permit increased employment, raising of wages to a point that assures workers of a comfortable living, and strengthening of labor organization to guarantee labor a voice in the management of industry.

"The CIO," said Roberts, "has no desire to dictate to the administrators of industry, but does want the right to have a part in determining hours and wages."

Russian Louie Novikoff, the guy they call Neva, is sharing the Western Association batting lead at 368. . . He roams the outfield for the Ponca City club, "Neve" of the Los Angeles Angels and the Chicago Cubs.

The Riverside parents of Stan Jacobsmeyer, brilliant righthander of the Stars, follow their son around the National Nightball league. . . Stan's dad is a night-ball fan-atic.

How did you like the 12-inch ball and the 60-foot baselines employed in the 1927-37 Stars' game at the Bowl last night?

Combine those drastic changes with OVERHANDED pitching and you have something, brother.

Joe Rodgers prefers the present 13-inch sphere and the 45-foot baselines. The hits look better from the longer distance, but the game is much slower than the National league's present brand, Joe claims.

Not much slower, Rodgers! The present game needs a tonic, and there are many fans who believe the 12-inch ball, thrown overhanded, with 60-foot baselines would provide a spark now missing in many of the games.

How did you like the 12-inch ball and the 60-foot baselines? The stars' game? You're all right, Rodgers.

Clarence Patmor, the Carpenters' infielder, is planning a gag for Monday night's City league doubleheader at the Municipal bowl.

Only 39 days until the Southern California champion Dons' first football practice! The Saints turn out a week later.

What will become of Rogers Hornsby, now that the former National league idol has been dismissed as manager of the lowly St. Louis Browns?

Harry Grayson, sports columnist, believes he has the answer.

He asserts Charley Dresen, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, is headed for New York where, after a season as coach and chief assistant to Bill Terry, he will become manager of the Giants in 1939.

Hornsby, according to Grayson's prediction, will succeed Dresen as Cincinnati's pilot next spring.

Old-Time Stars Upset Smith's Nine, 3 to 1

OILERS HERE TOMORROW

Joe Rodgers, Horace Snow Steal Show in Softball Comedy

National Nightball league fans were divided in opinion today over the experiment that introduced the 12-inch ball and 60-foot baselines at the Municipal bowl last night, when Kenneth Miller's "Old-Time Stars" defeated Manager "Doc" Smith's present-day aggregation, 3 to 1.

The defeat meant exactly nothing, because Smith employed an outfield reserve, Frank Lukor of Long Beach, on the mound instead of his No. 1 ace, Stan Jacobsmeyer. And the ground conditions were drastically different from the 45-foot baselines and 13-inch ball now in effect in the National league.

Constant wise-cracking by Joe Rodgers, Huntington Beach manager who operated the bowl loud-speaker, and the wild antics of Second-baseman Horace Snow, Santa Ana commissioner, stole the show in the softball comedy. A Brown and Wagner ambulance almost carried Snow off the field in a "gag" that clicked early in the game, and Snow later presented "Catcher" "Eeny" Wilcox with two toy balloons, but he bursted them with his cigar before Wilcox could accept.

The smaller ball and longer baselines employed last night may throw the Stars off slightly for their all-important engagement with Rodgers' Huntington Beach Oilers, 1936 champions and present leaders, at the Bowl tomorrow night. Rodgers announced last night that Frank (Chico) Sabella would get the call over "Fuzzy" Errington here.

Miller's old-timers used Gene Hitt, Earl Jones and Joe Cornelius on the mound, Cornelius, perhaps the finest pitcher in Santa Ana annals, received a warm welcome from the fans when he went in to pitch the last three frames.

The Oilers scored twice in the first when Randolph Bell left off with a single to center, and "Memphie" Hill walked. Darwin Scott's long fly advanced the two runners, and Tommy Young's error on Gene Hitt's grounder permitted Bell to score. Hill scampered home after a race Snow blasted a fly rightfield.

Bob Schwartz's walk and three successive grounders netted the Stars' lone tally in the first. Cornelius tripled against the left-field embankment and scored on Catcher Bemo Koral's error in the eighth. . . Shortstop Chas. J. Comstock of the present-day Stars were out in the second in attempting to stretch a three-bagger into a homer.

"Doc" Smith's gang outthrew the old-timers, 6 to 3, but did not threaten as often. . . A fair crowd saw the comedy.

Her Trip Abroad Was Not a Complete Failure

RANGER WINS 13TH RACE

Vanderbilt's Yacht Seeks America Cup

VINEYARD HAVEN. (AP)—After winning the 30th victory of her triumphal career, undefeated Ranger, the sloop with which Harold S. Vanderbilt will meet T. O. M. Sopwith's second British challenger for the America's cup Saturday, again today faced the three sloops she vanquished yesterday.

They are Gerard B. Lambert's Yankee, Chandler Hovey's Rainbow and Endeavour I. Sopwith's 1934 challenger, which lost to Rainbow, then skipped by Vanderbilt.

The sloops finished a 37-mile course from Mattapoisette to Vineyard Haven in that order yesterday. Yankee was more than six minutes, Rainbow approximately eight minutes, and Endeavour more than nine minutes astern of the defender.

Today's course, last leg of the annual cruise of the Eastern Yacht club, was from Vineyard Haven to Newport, R. I., scene of the approaching international sailing duel, a distance of approximately 37 miles.

Ranger supporters could, if they wished, claim yesterday's victory as her 10th, because she won three unscheduled brushes with Yankee, Rainbow and Endeavour I off Newport after the formal preliminary contests. At any rate, she remains the only undefeated sloop of her class in the world, for Sopwith's Endeavour II tasted defeat in home waters before she crossed the Atlantic this spring.

Strongbow Pinned By Turk Ali Baba

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The Kurd was mightier than the Redman last night when Ali Baba, Kurdistan 205-pounder, disposed of Jules Strongbow, 285, of Oklahoma, in two straight falls.

Vincent Lopez won a one-fall match from Gino Garibaldi in 29 minutes in another feature of the Olympic auditorium wrestling program.

Townsend News Views

By
WALTER R. ROBB

L. C. Carlisle was the speaker Tuesday evening before the Anaheim club, presided over by Ida A. Freeman, president. Carlisle is said to have talked on the need of preserving the democratic spirit and form of government in the nation and outlined the part the Townsend movement had already contributed to such an accomplishment as well as the part it could play in the future.

Everybody's headed for Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth at 5 o'clock this evening when club 3 begins serving those 25-cent suppers, consisting of potato salad, meat sandwiches, apple pie, ice cream and coffee. Serving will continue until 7:30 when a Townsend meeting will be held in the hall by club No. 3. The Hurd-Lantz orchestra is to play and the fiery George D. Higgins, attorney of Los Angeles will be the speaker. Higgins has appeared here before and always is brimming over with dynamic thought applicable to the occasion and Townsend movement. The public is invited.

Santa Ana club No. 10 is meeting in the Unitarian church at 7:30 tomorrow evening with Walter R. Robb as its speaker. R. E. Marks is president and will preside. Last week this club had a rousing meeting with Rev. J. H. Bradley of Riverside as speaker.

Evidently the Townsends believed like the writer did that the Orange county district flood bonds should be voted judging by the fine majority that was rolled up in their favor. The amount of money to be put in circulation in Orange county should make times better for all of us. Which leads the writer to suggest to the ones who are not Townsends that if the Townsend plan became the law of the nation there would be released for spending in the county every year a similar sum of federal money as will be represented in the total of $15,000,000 to be expended in the flood control project. Why not take a pencil and begin figuring what such a volume of constant spending and enforced circulation of money would do for the prosperity of the nation. The continuation of direct taxation through bond issues by the county and by means of appropriations by the U. S. congress would lead to eventual bankruptcy of the nation if persisted in too long but by the 2 per cent Townsend transaction tax method the national treasury would be enriched instead of depleted. Some day the business men of the nation will wake up to this important difference in taxation methods.

The Mountaineers of Possum Trot Holler from Pomona played better than 300 of appreciative Townsend members and others Tuesday evening in Santa Ana Townsend hall. Under the direction of Margaret L. Strong this group put on an even better entertainment program than they did on June 17 when they appeared here before. After their program, Clubs 8 and 10 served ice cream and cake. J. H. Nicholson, president of Santa Ana Club 8, acted as the chairman and R. E. Marks, president of Club 8 assisted. Short Townsend talks were made by Dr. U. G. Littell and Walter R. Robb previous to the program.

Mrs. E. G. Warner, publicity program chairman of Santa Ana club No. 11 informs the writer that tomorrow evening from 5:30 to 7:30 the club will serve ice cream and cake for 15 cents in the Franklin school at 1512 West Fourth street. A Townsend meeting will follow the refreshments with Fred Seifert, president in the chair.

C. A. Holloway and wife will entertain Santa Ana club No. 9 at 7:30 tomorrow evening in their home at 2027 Cypress street. The Rev. Mr. White of Laguna Beach, well-known ardent Townsendsite, will be the speaker.

Santa Ana club No. 7 meets at 7:30 tomorrow evening in the Orange Avenue Christian church on Orange Avenue at McCadden street. George W. Lounsbury, new president will preside. It is reported that Peter Bennein, former president of the club, is not at all well. The public is invited.

Mrs. Walter C. Matthews of Denver arrived in Santa Ana Tuesday evening in time to be present and enjoy the Mountaineers from Possum Trot Holler at Townsend hall. She is a sister-in-law of Mrs. Lydia E. Keer, 406 West Sixth street, at whose home she will be visiting for the next week or so. Mrs. Kerr's daughter, wife of G. A. Martin, and their daughter left Sunday for Arkansas after having visited at the Kerr home for a few days. Mrs. Kerr is a Townsendsite who does not hesitate to let people know it. A. M. Maps and Mrs. Maps of Santa Ana Club 6 have been invited by Ted E. Felt, district manager of the 16th Congressional district, to be the guests of the Townsend mass meeting being held at Sawtelle next Saturday night and at a Townsend breakfast to be held in Griffith park from 8 to 11 a. m. Sunday morning.

SEEK TO SAVE $2,000,000 IN ASSESSMENTS

Sleeper, Menton Will Appeal to Sacramento

District Attorney W. F. Menton and Assessor James Sleeper are in for a warm trip next week to save some $2,000,000 in assessed valuations for the county.

Supervisors yesterday afternoon authorized Menton and Sleeper to travel to Sacramento for a state board of equalization hearing on assessment of the Seal Beach electric plant Aug. 5.

Sleeper has assessed $2,000,000 worth of machinery in the plant, owned by the city of Los Angeles, as improvements to property. Los Angeles has protested the assessment, maintaining the machinery is personal property, which cannot be taxed when it belongs to a municipal corporation. The hearing in Sacramento will be an appeal from the refusal of local supervisors to alter the assessment. If the state board, as expected, upholds the local supervisors, the case probably will become the center of a superior court battle here.

CONTINUE L. A. GAMBLING DRIVE

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Authorities continued their drive against bookmakers today, spurred by the statement of Attorney General U. S. Webb that conditions in Los Angeles could be placed "squarely on the shoulders of local law enforcement officials."

More than a score of men were arrested for bookmaking, and District Attorney Euron Pitts declared, "I want to assure the public that this investigation will be the most far-reaching ever attempted in Los Angeles."

Pitts said that witnesses to the attempted assassination of George Bruneman, night club operator, had identified Victor Costini as resembling one of two men who waylaid and shot Bruneman on a Redondo Beach street last week. Costini is being held on a technical charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Bruneman's shooting touched off the current drive. Authorities theorized that the affair was connected with a dispute among gambling powers.

L. A. ALIMONY BIG BUSINESS

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The alimony business in Los Angeles county is approaching the $1,000,000-a-month class.

Payments handled through a court trustee alone totaled $736,000 last year and are expected to reach possibly $800,000 this year, said County Probation Officer K. J. Scudder, the trustee.

But some of the largest payments—running high as $2000 a month—are made under out of court settlements and therefore are not officially tallied.

Superior Judge Leslie E. Still and Clerk Lewis Drucker of the domestic relations court and Court Commissioner E. D. Doyle agreed today that there probably are more than 100,000 ex-wives in Los Angeles county, and about one-fifth of them receive alimony. Payments through this office average about $30 a month in each case.

The army now sponsors the citizens' military training corps, which currently has 35,000 boys undergoing a month's training at an annual cost of about $2,275,000.

Woman Held on Threat Charge
OAKLAND. (AP)—Federal charges of writing an extortion note to John Boles, Hollywood film actor, resulted in the detention here today of Mrs. June Bates, Oakland matron.

Mrs. Bates was indicted in Los Angeles on evidence that over a period of four years she wrote oddily-phrased missives to Boles, and that lately she demanded $500 from him on threat of "exposing" his wife as leader of a narcotics ring.

Death Assured By Dynamite Blast in Hat

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Under-sheriff John Gillan said Isaac Ranta, 49-year-old miner, sat on the courthouse curb today, placed a stick of dynamite in his hat, ignited a short fuse and blew off the back of his head.

The explosion resounded through an area of several blocks. Gillan pronounced the death a suicide.

NEW PARALYSIS PROJECT SET

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt has taken steps to expand the nationwide program of infantile paralysis prevention and immunization.

The President's birthday ball commission for infantile paralysis research said today trustees of the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation already were working at his request on the enlargement program.

Mr. Roosevelt, a sufferer from infantile paralysis for more than 15 years, praised the agency's work.

The commission's final report of the 1936 ball showed $241,000 had been granted for paralysis research to 15 colleges, universities and other organizations.

This represented 30 per cent of the total funds raised. The remaining 70 per cent is turned over to local communities to assist paralytic victims.

New York university received the largest grant, $64,000. Others included: Stanford University, $30,000; University of Southern California, $25,000; University of California, $10,000.

HOOVER URGES MORE POLICE

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A city with a high crime rate probably has too few policemen, Director J. Edgar Hoover of the federal bureau of investigation said today.

He based his conclusions on 1936 figures from 93 cities. There were five murders for every 100,000 persons living in cities which employed 23 policemen per 1000 inhabitants.

The rate was twice as high in cities employing less than one policeman per 1000 residents.

In addition, Hoover said, the cities with the smaller proportion of policemen reported 67 per cent more robberies and 63 per cent more aggravated assaults.

TWO JAILED ON RACKET COUNT

NEW YORK. (AP)—Heavy prison sentences were meted out by Supreme Court Justice Philip J. McCook today against two more defendants involved in the $100,000-a-year rackets "clean-up" crusade of Special Prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey.

Justice McCook sentenced the principals in a trucking industry racket—James Plumeri, 34, alias Jimmy Doyle, and John Dioguardi, 23, alias Johnny Dio—to five to 10 years and three to five years respectively in Sing Sing prison.

Both pleaded guilty on June 10 to Dewey's charges of conspiracy, extortion, assault and malicious mischief in attempting to dominate the garment trucking industry.

Utah Air Reward Decision Asked
SALT LAKE CITY. (AP)—Western Air Express has offered to pay to a district court a $1000 reward offered the finder of its missing airliner, which crashed Dec. 15 high in the Wasatch mountains, killing seven occupants.

The court would then decide which of five claimants is entitled to the reward.

Action today was taken after Rex Moyle of Alpine filed suit for the $1000, claiming he was one of the original discoverers of the wreck found in rugged Hoagum canyon June 6.

Emery Andrews, Melvin Davey, Frank Bateman and William Healey, all of Alpine, also claim the reward.

Mother Shoots Two Small Sons
HENDERSON, N. C. (AP)—Two small sons of Mrs. P. R. Overby, 31-year-old farm woman, died today of bullet wounds which, Coroner Asa Paschall said, were inflicted by their mother.

Mrs. Overby was brought to a hospital here apparently seriously ill. The coroner ascribed her condition to poison which he said she swallowed after shooting the boys, John Russell, 7, and Jimmie Davis, six months.

The coroner reported that Mrs. Overby left a note saying she killed her sons because she wanted them to go to heaven.

GRAVE JOKE BRINGS SUIT
For playing a practical joke on a grave digger a barber in Constantinople, Turkey, was sent to prison for eight days. The tonorial artist told the grave digger that his wife had died, and asked him to prepare a grave. The digger did so. The barber then laughingly told him that his wife was well and healthy. The laughter faded a few days later when the grave digger sued him.

Summer Sales Provide Opportunities

By ADELAIDE KERR
NEW YORK.—Summer sales of 1937 offer some of the best values the fashion world has had in years.

A little cash plus intelligent shopping will produce exceedingly smart clothes to freshen a late summer wardrobe—and be useful next year.

The secret lies in buying standard things and adding a little "dated nonsense" to stamp them with the season's chic. At summer's close the nonsense can be discarded.

WHITE CLOTHES GOOD
White clothes and accessories have been very chic this year and are one of the best buys of the season. A short-sleeved white redingote of crisp acetate suiting, worn over a darker frock or foundation, makes a smart cool costume for town. White linen suits combining frock and jacket and an extra white sports frock are other valuable late summer additions.

One of the best July fashion investments is a two-piece suit frock, which is just as good in the country as in town. New chiffon linens, hopsackings and rayon weaves are used in this season's versions. They come in nearly all light shades including dusty pink, light blue and natural color. Wedgewood blue and cinnamon brown are two of the smartest and most useful hues, since they look well with white or dark accents.

Another good investment is a

CLEAN CARPETS...

REMEMBER how new your rugs and carpets looked the last time they were cleaned? If they were done by the Hild System, which insures even your Orientals against pulled threads and fading or streaking from harsh chemicals...

...The SUNSET CLEANERS & DYERS, 904 W. Fourth, are exclusive users of this system, and employ a licensed operator... Phone 449 and have your rugs called for. It's cooler without them just now.

FASHIONS IN CARPETS

WHETHER your house needs a new carpet or not, I want you to drop in at HAMMOND BROS. CORP., 1246 S. Main and have a look at the Alexander Smith carpets that have just come in... A wide range of colors and weaves that are new and distinctive... You'll find a carpet for every room.

AT RANKINS...

WHEN you were in the Far East—remember the fun of bargaining in the bazaars, those Arabian Nights storehouses of everything imaginable? The thrill of carrying off your prize in the triumphant assurance that you've landed a tremendous bargain... It's only later that you find how badly you've been "stung"...

There's the same thrill about an auction, though there the bidding is up instead of down—the thrill of acquiring something worth more than the price we paid for it. There must be a strain of the Forty Thieves in all of us... There's that same bargain thrill in shopping at RANKIN'S this week—without the fear of a later rude awakening... It's a store-wide Clearance mark-down, lasting only ten days altogether. Many bargains are already gone.

All summer accessories—someone just told me summer lasts in Santa Ana until November—yardage, apparel, the Children's Departments... Opportunity to get the children fitted out for school, before the higher Fall prices. RANKIN'S, Fourth at Sycamore.

FRESH AS NEW PAINT

WEATHER-BEATEN outdoor furniture... A room that needs freshening or merely change... The EUREKA PAINT & GLASS STORE, 209 N. Main, has rapid-drying enamels that are a joy to dabble with... Comes in small quantities (¼ pint and up) in sixteen lovely colors, and black and white... Use on wood or metal, inside or out.

TAILORED LADY

IN EVERY "SET" there is one woman who is outstandingly well-groomed, who achieves the reputation of being "best-dressed." The fashion leader of Boston's Younger Set dresses simply, buys surprisingly few clothes... What she buys, however, are well-tailored and of good materials—and are worn longer than any dress of yours or mine... Meticulous cleanliness, she says, is the secret of always appearing fresh and well-groomed... The Duchess of Kent, "best-dressed woman in England," was recently photographed in the same dress six times in seven weeks, is equally smart each time... Have the WASHINGTON CLEANERS, 1109 N. Main, keep your clothes cleaned and pressed. Phone 4944.

bright printed pique house coat, tailored enough to wear on the beach, or one of dotted swiss, frilly enough to be worn for dinner at home on hot nights.

A few of the old one-piece frocks, which are selling all over the country from two dollars up, will be useful wardrobe additions for the woman who is summing in a small town. Cottons and rayons, woven with stripes on white make good frocks for the country club or an informal afternoon of bridge.

When it comes to evening clothes, the canniest shoppers are concentrating on cotton or chiffon. The first is youthful, nonchalant and inexpensive; the second may do duty into the fall.

This is the season to buy shoes, bags and lingerie. Oxfords or sandals which mellow over the instep, and handled bags in the staple hues of black, navy blue or white are all safe investments. So is the princess silhouette which molds the figure to the fitted corsetette profile heralded for fall.

Narrow, white or colored belts, strappy sandals, animal clips, twin lapel boutonnieres, frosty white turbans and bright wooden bracelets make timely seasoning for new clothes.

Drapery—new drapes do wonders to a room—rugs, linoleum, floor samples and the odd pieces that make a room interesting... It is merchandise that is in no way lessened in value or beauty, marked down to make room quickly for a large incoming stock.

You know, Chandler's maintains a policy of selling, at all times, quality merchandise at a reasonable price, thus eliminating price peaks and the necessity of running sales month after month... Hence, we know that a Chandler's Sale means real bargains. Friday and Saturday at Third and Main.

LATE SUMMER BLANKS

IN the latest Vogue, you noticed a smart street dress for late Summer and Fall in black Viscose alpaca, frosted with white faille collar and cuffs, buttoned down the front, with a black patent leather belt? One of those dresses outstanding for its simplicity... You'll find it at MATTINGLY'S, 220 W. Fourth. One of a new collection of the ever well-groomed black—yes, there are more since the first crop I told you about... Featuring alpaca, satin and the 1937 highlight, silk, jersey. I remember particularly an alpaca ensemble, with a novel trim of black satin arrows... A black and white ensemble with the hard-to-get full-length coat...

The trouble most people have in making an arrangement of flowers is that they try to include too many blooms. Next time, try extracting a few when you think you have done your best. Oftentimes, the result is surprising.

FASHION CHATTER

MISS ELAINE FASHION

"Beanies" are "in," plain for sport, glorified with feathers and veils for dress... featured in velvet with the strictly 1937 sport-out "5 o'clocks." Also in the small hat class, very strong this season, berets and soft draped turbans, with new height achieved by clever manipulation of fabric and ornament... Pill-boxes in felt and suede are outlined with discs of silk or patent leather leaves and made glamorous by circular or back draped veil.

That very feminine hint of the mysterious—it's achieved par excellence in the new veils used front and back, perky nose-length wisps to wide mesh knee-length veils that swathe the shoulders or fall from a chin strap... "Little dinner" hats have circular waistline veils.

Lavish trim of flowers and feathers and jeweled ornaments reflect a marked influence of the early 1900's, modified by 1937 streamlining... As at the turn of the century, "dress-up" is the prevailing mood of the day. The ostrich plume has come again into its own, decorating hats in the Gainsborough manner, in rich velvet with wide, graceful brim upturned at the side... A note of old world elegance that will be carried out in the cut steel buckles of your high-arched pumps...

For you who would like to go hatless the year 'round—the open crown is considered an all-year possibility, where climate allows. Many of the Fall ensembles, you will notice, are coming in with matching turban-headbands...

California has been responsible for the mode of livelier colors, which this season are more daring than ever... They are used to contrast with black or to complete your colored ensemble. Kelly and olive green, royal blues, chamois, rosy reds and the deeper wines, light yellow-browns, and a new copper tone... gold and silver touches on black... It's a season of color and of brilliance...

Came across this last night, by Emerson: "Life is not so short but that there is always time for courtesy."

WITH California's Don Budge sweeping Wimbledon the way Husky Garman swept the Poughkeepsie Regatta last month, then proceeding, with his team-mates, to bring back the Davis Cup after ten years—American amateur tennis is staging a comeback. Come on, you tennisists, let's get in on it! With a new outfit to show we mean business. SCOLLER'S, at 312 North Sycamore, has some shorts and play suits that make you look as snappy as Budge's Overhead... Marked down, too, for summer clearance. One Seda Lona smash from Vogue... Gray shorts... Black and white pique... And more!

ROMANCE IN TIME

A NAPOLEONIC legend was shattered by a clock! You remember Bonaparte's famed power of concentration by which he, supposedly, could awaken from sleep at any set hour? That particular power of concentration was an alarm clock! It was found among the effects of Napoleon's niece, Princess Mathilde, with evidence to show that it participated in the "little corporal's" campaigns... Made by an celebrated clock-maker of the first empire period, it has eight dials, giving the true time, mean time, phases of the moon, seconds, minutes, hours, day, month and year. It strikes hours and quarters and has a small thermometer attached. The case is of gilded bronze, elaborately engraved... It has, of course, joined the distinguished company of the world's priceless timepieces.

If there is an old clock in your family out of repair, or whose history is not complete, take it in to M. H. R. TROT, 424 North Sycamore. It may be of great value.

FURNITURE SUMMER-BEATEN?

WHAT with sitting so much out of doors, entertaining a horde of children and the round of week-end parties, summer's pretty hard on furniture. There's usually no finish left by this time. For your Fall fix-up, I recommend the FAIRMACK STUDIO, 116 S. Sycamore, to put your furniture back into its accustomed polished state. Aside from removing stains, their finish is mixed of ingredients that will withstand water-marks and even liquor stains... Antiques are a specialty with Fairmack...

KEEPING COOL

THAT'S our prime interest at the moment—and will be for the next three or four months. Unlike the East, the temperature drops here with the setting sun—so it seems to be merely a matter of keeping Old Sol out...

Hang a cool green Bamboo shade on the sunny side of your patio or porch, and spend the day there. Add color and comfort with some of those canvas cushions at the SANTA ANA TENT & AWNING CO., 1626 S. Main.

This is Los Angeles Fall Market Week—the 1937 Fall Season is under way! We've had hints and forecasts e'er this, but this week actual buying for your and my Fall wardrobe is off in a blaze of glorious fabrics and colors... Buyers from all over the country are thronging the Los Angeles Market—and the surrounding resorts and fashion spots, to catch the mood of Southern California styling...

The new millinery is in step with the fashioning inspired lavishment forecast a couple of weeks ago... Your really get something for your money this season! Wide and interesting variety of styles and materials: high crowns, shallow crowns, brims, no-brims, turbans, "buckets" and pill-boxes... felts, velvets, antelope, velours...

"Beanies" are "in," plain for sport, glorified with feathers and veils for dress... featured in velvet with the strictly 1937 sport-out "5 o'clocks." Also in the small hat class, very strong this season, berets and soft draped turbans, with new height achieved by clever manipulation of fabric and ornament... Pill-boxes in felt and suede are outlined with discs of silk or patent leather leaves and made glamorous by circular or back draped veil.

That very feminine hint of the mysterious—it's achieved par excellence in the new veils used front and back, perky nose-length wisps to wide mesh knee-length veils that swathe the shoulders or fall from a chin strap... "Little dinner" hats have circular waistline veils.

Lavish trim of flowers and feathers and jeweled ornaments reflect a marked influence of the early 1900's, modified by 1937 streamlining... As at the turn of the century, "dress-up" is the prevailing mood of the day. The ostrich plume has come again into its own, decorating hats in the Gainsborough manner, in rich velvet with wide, graceful brim upturned at the side... A note of old world elegance that will be carried out in the cut steel buckles of your high-arched pumps...

For you who would like to go hatless the year 'round—the open crown is considered an all-year possibility, where climate allows. Many of the Fall ensembles, you will notice, are coming in with matching turban-headbands...

California has been responsible for the mode of livelier colors, which this season are more daring than ever... They are used to contrast with black or to complete your colored ensemble. Kelly and olive green, royal blues, chamois, rosy reds and the deeper wines, light yellow-browns, and a new copper tone... gold and silver touches on black... It's a season of color and of brilliance...

Came across this last night, by Emerson: "Life is not so short but that there is always time for courtesy."

NEW FACES FOR OLD

SUN, wind and wienie roasts make for summer fun, but also for summer complexion problems that aren't much fun. Especially when the dark rich fabrics of the new Fall wardrobe show up startling little lines and imperfections you've not had time to notice... Heat makes your face sticky and opens the pores—a veritable welcome mat for dust, cosmetics and germs... Have a cleansing and toning facial at the SANTA ANA UNIVERSITY OF BEAUTY CULTURE periodically. Either electrical or plain—special treatments for acne, with dietetic advice, sagging muscles, dry or oily skin... If your hair has gotten dry or bleached or excessively oily ask about the university's scientific scalp treatments... The students are trained, not only in the regular school, but by a special service from Los Angeles, 406 1/2 N. Main.

LEGIONNAIRES

SIX courtesy days in France—free! Reduction in rates for legionnaires and their families, on a return trip good for two years... Paris is agog this year with the 1937 International Exposition... Sail on the famous French Line—the Normandie, perhaps. For details, see MRS. JULIA ANN HYDE, Travel Dept., Commercial National Bank.

BUSINESS MEN ASK COUNTY SALARY BOOST

SCHOOL FOR HOUSEMAIDS? YES, MADAME

Supervisors Consider $250 WPA Project

Your bawth is ready, madam... Why import a maid from Los Angeles, Texas, or the Fiji Islands? The county and the WPA will have 'em available in a few months, probably.

Supervisors today had under advisement a proposal whereby 20 skilled maids can be turned out every eight weeks under a state-sponsored WPA project. Thirty-five women on local WPA rolls, between 18 and 35 years of age, are willing to take the training, Fred Jayne of the WPA told the board yesterday afternoon.

Cost to the county would be $250 a month. For that sum the WPA would rent a completely-furnished six-room house equipped with gas and electric ranges, bed-spreads, garbage cans, and laundry tubs. The maids-to-be would be taught how to operate these pieces of equipment, as well as "how to behave in the home." They also would be supplied with water to boil and meat to burn, for practice.

The project is a great success in other parts of the state, Jayne said. San Diego officials say domestic service wages have been raised $10 a month as a result of the program. Mrs. John Ackerman of the national reemployment service says she probably will be able to place 100 Orange county WPA-trained women in jobs within the next six months.

COAST GUARD REFORM URGED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Rear Admiral R. R. Waesche, commandant of the coast guard, urged congress today to provide for "a very mild form of weeding out" officers in the coast guard to increase efficiency.

Waesche testified before the house merchant marine committee in support of a bill to provide for involuntary retirement of officers on the same terms on which they now may retire voluntarily.

A coast guard personnel board of not less than three commissioned officers would be assembled annually to recommend to the commandant the officers to be retired. Officers ordered retired could have cases reconsidered.

PUBLIC DRUM CORPS DRILL

Santa Anans will have an opportunity to see members of the American Legion drum corps display the program with which they expect to win the state trophy at a public rehearsal in the municipal bowl at 9:30 a. m., Sunday.

At that time a dress rehearsal will be held as a practice event for the state convention competition in Stockton Aug. 9. It was announced. Fifty men will take part in the exhibition. If the local group is successful in Stockton, members will be sent to New York, it was announced.

TERREL FACES SEX TRIAL

Walt Terrel, route 1, Anaheim, must face superior court trial on charges of contributing to the delinquency of two minor girls.

Terrel was held to answer to the higher court today at a preliminary hearing in Justice Halsey I. Spence's Fullerton justice court. The complaint, fourth child crime charge in Orange county this month, was filed by a Placentia man, father of the two girls, who are 10 and 12 years old.

Lightning Sets Forests Ablaze

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Lightning set the Pacific Northwest's forests ablaze yesterday.

Thousands of men rushed to the fire lines in forests from the coast to Montana after one of the inland empire's most severe electrical storms in years. Most of the blazes were small, and foresters hoped to check them, but predictions of wind tonight aroused grave fears.

The worst region was in Western Montana and Northern Idaho, where lookouts counted 208 new fires after "hot" lightning struck repeatedly without bringing rain. Heavy rain accompanied the storm in eastern Washington and the Idaho panhandle.

Touring Teachers Escape In Bus Fire

More than a score of teachers on a summer university tour narrowly escaped burning to death when the bus in which they were riding caught fire and was destroyed near Newhall, Calif. The wreckage of the bus is pictured.

$1000 Reward May Be Myth As Shell-Shocked S. A. Vet Sharpens Way to New York

By JOHN MCLELLAND

Couple of days ago a travel-worn knife sharpener, riding a bicycle propelled by a one-lung motor, went putt-putting across New York state line. He was from Santa Ana, near the end of one of what may be the season's longest wild goose chases. Grieffully the dusty cross-country traveler stopped in the first town he came to and looked at a calendar. No, it wasn't Aug. 1 yet. He'd won the race. And a $1000 prize, so he thought and still thinks, was his.

So the knife grinder turned gypsy sent a telegram back to Santa Ana. It was addressed to M. R. Kellogg of the Kellogg Auto Court on Roe drive. It was signed by John Ziennaker. John is the wandering sharpener.

What Ziennaker doesn't know, unless a lot of local citizens have been fooled, is that he isn't to get a $1000 prize. He's sharpened his way to New York for the fun of it. The story he told several persons before he left set up the Santa Ana branch of the Bank of America as the sponsor of the trip. He was to ride his bike across the country, earning his way by sharpening knives on his portable grinder as he went, and get to New York before Aug. 1. He had a letter, so the story goes, addressed to city officials asking them not to charge him for licenses to sharpen.

REFUSE FUNDS FOR PUBLICITY

The outstretched hand was still empty today, as county supervisors turned down requests for money for two forms of publicity.

In keeping with the board's policy to handle publicity matters through the advertising department, supervisors turned down a request by the American Legion bugle corps for $450 to assist in financing a trip to the Stockton state convention Aug. 7 to 11.

Eddie Couron, manager of the corps, appealed for the money, saying the county had been given $45,000 worth of free publicity last year through activities of the corps.

Fred Newcomb, jr., told the board he believed it might be wise to take a half page of advertising space in an annual magazine published by the Newport Harbor Publishing company, at a cost of $35. Although he pounded on the supervisors' table to emphasize his points, he was unsuccessful.

Six Radio Car Licenses Asked

Applications for broadcasting licenses for six radio-equipped sheriff's cars today stood approved by the board of supervisors, and will be forwarded soon to the federal communications commission.

Included in the list is a new car to be used by Dana Lamb as head of the county's volunteer life guard service along unprotected beaches.

Election Officials To Get $5 Each

Election officials who took care of 118 consolidated precincts in Tuesday's flood control bond election will be paid $5 each for their work.

Supervisors yesterday afternoon moved to allow that amount for precinct workers.

The flaw in the story now is that the Bank of America has never heard of him. But there's just a possibility—a remote one—that he got his stories mixed and does have a real backer after all. For John often did get things mixed up a bit. He was a war veteran who was shell-shocked, his friends believe. For two years he has lived in a tent at the Kellogg auto court. All the money he was able to save, Kellogg said, he buried in tin cans in a nearby orchard.

Not long ago he was in an accident and received $5000 damages. He wanted to bury that, too, but his friends talked him into putting it in a bank. That experience with banks may have sent him goose-chasing.

Ludy P. Schaffer, Bush street butcher who was a customer of Ziennaker, was in the southern states on vacation in May. Standing on a small town Texas street corner, he saw the Santa Ana man, busily plying his trade. "What are you doing way down here, John?" he asked. "Oh, I'm traveling and got a long way to go yet," was the grinder's reply. He seemed perfectly happy, Schaffer said. So whether John Ziennaker is chasing rainbows, mythical geese, or a real reward, he probably won't regret his long jog from one ocean to the other.

CITES KIWANIS OBJECTIVES

Presenting a report of the recent international convention at Indianapolis, President R. B. Newcom of the Kiwanis club yesterday cited three salient points as the most important conclusions drawn at the convocation.

"First, the convention determined that Kiwanis more than ever should work with church groups in fostering mutual objectives," Newcom said. "Second, it was concluded that America can expect increased governmental influence in social life. Third, it was brought home to delegates that the primary objective of the laboring man is to be respected and honored by his fellow workers in the type of work he is doing."

Announcement of the joint meeting of all service clubs at Santiago park next Wednesday was made by Rodney Bacon, Carl Mahill, program chairman of the day, presented Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Ramseyer, well-known radio musicians, who rendered several vocal and harp selections.

Huge Sunspots Are Observed

NEW YORK. (AP)—Sun spots, visible through smoked glasses without the aid of a telescope, were observed today by astronomers of the Museum of Natural History.

Dr. Clyde Fisher, director of the museum's Hayden planetarium, said the spots were plainly visible, appearing as large as one-fifth the area of the sun. "They are the largest sun spots I ever have noted," said Dr. Fisher. "This is one of the few times people throughout the United States have been able to see them with the naked eye."

URGE COUNTY LABOR BOARD

Orange county may step into the labor relations picture by forming a local labor relations board to discuss and arbitrate labor problems, if supervisors approve an ordinance suggested by the Commonwealth Club of California.

The club, a San Francisco organization dealing with problems of state-wide interest, suggested in a letter to the board that counties might well set up labor relations boards to assist in arbitration and discussion.

Enclosed was a confidential copy of a proposed ordinance drawn up by the club's attorneys, which would set up such a board. Supervisors took the matter under advisement.

DISMISS FLOOD DAMAGE SUITS

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Two of the eight damage suits filed against the county because of the disastrous New Year's day flood of 1934 in the Montrose area were dismissed today.

Superior Judge Charles Ballard ruled the plaintiffs had not shown the county negligent in flood control operations in the canyon where their properties were situated.

In one case, the plaintiffs were Anderson Clark and others seeking $45,000 for property damage and the death of Ella May Clark. In the other, Helen Farr Tolman asked $31,000 for property damage and the death of William Murray Tolman.

The six cases still pending involve claims totalling $100,000 for damage in Pickens Wash.

Playground Leader Dies

COHASSET, Mass. (AP)—Joseph Lee, 75, of Boston, often called "the father of American playgrounds," died at his summer home today.

Lee founded the Massachusetts Civic League and for many years was its president. He also served as president of the National Recreation association for 30 years. Shortly after the world war the war department conferred a distinguished service medal on him for his work as head of the war camps community service.

Pismo Man Enters Governor Race

SAN LUIS OBISPO. (AP)—William B. Griffin, Pismo Beach real estate broker, announced to the county Democratic committee today he would be a candidate for governor.

His platform, he said, would feature $100 a month pensions for all persons over 50; $10 and $15 a month for grammar and high school pupils respectively, and no increase in taxation.

Bandit-Proof Cage For Stephenson

County Treasurer T. E. Stephenson will be laughing at bandits even more vigorously before long. He told the board of supervisors in a letter yesterday afternoon that a bandit-proof cage should be installed in his office soon, and supervisors agreed it should be put in the new budget.

CITY ANSWERS JOE; TO BUY NEW FOLDERS

No Longer Will Old Booklet Embarrass S.A.

City councilmen answered Joe Bungstarter today.

Joe, the theoretical Denverite who became fuddled when he saw a Santa Ana civic folder showing gals in knee-length bathing suits, a photo of a mayor who hasn't been mayor for eight years, and 1926 model automobiles, will get a new civic folder soon.

Denverites, given the folders by Elks attending the national convention, who had been given the folders by the city council through the chamber of commerce, gave the Elks in turn the raspberry when the musty publicity was passed out. The folders are eight years old.

What's left of them can go in the wastebasket soon, however. Councilman William Penn assured The Journal that the city soon will publish a brand-new publicity folder for the chamber of commerce. With newer cars, less droopy bathing suits, and more modern makeup.

The Elks' red faces weren't the chamber's fault. The chamber didn't have any money to print folders with. The city council hadn't been asked recently for an appropriation. There were lots of old folders left to distribute. So the Elks got the Bronx cheer, the council got a letter from Herr Bungstarter, and the city will get new and fresh publicity booklets.

Breakfast Club Enjoys Program

The Breakfast club was entertained this morning by Miss Margaret Davies, soprano soloist, and Lorli Buell, tap, Spanish and interpretive dancer. Miss Davies is to have the leading part in the opera, "Sweethearts," to be given at the high school, and Miss Buell is from the Putnam School of Dancing.

President Leach announced the meeting of the major or committee of Southern California for Santiago park Aug. 4, and extended an invitation to Breakfast club members to participate. An expected feature on the program at this meeting is to be the trio and quartet from the Auxiliary of the American Legion, under the direction of Miss Armstrong.

Past President Edward Cochems is to present the program next Thursday.

L. A. Man Faces Federal Charge

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The federal trade commission announced today it has issued a complaint against Guy J. Banta, Los Angeles, trading as Cal-A-Mo Laboratories, charging false and misleading representations in the sale of a bath preparation.

The commission said the complaint charged that the preparation was advertised as "the safe way to reduce," when actually "it is not a reducing preparation, contains no ingredient which will get rid of excess fat, and its use will not prove harmless in all cases."

Banta was given 30 days to answer the complaint.

Four Burn In Texas Wreck

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP)—Four men met flaming death yesterday when a light sedan carrying two oil field workers collided with a loaded gasoline truck and burned, near Windthorst.

The dead: Charles Moffett, 25, the truck driver of Fort Worth; E. C. Brannen, 18, Fort Worth; E. E. Brumley, oil field driller at Bryson and L. Beck, oil field worker.

Moffett, Brumley and Beck were believed to have been killed instantly. Brannen was conscious when helped from the wreckage, but died several hours later.

Publish Jaysee Grad's Story On S. A. Strong Man, 70

Richard Mather, graduate of Santa Ana Junior college, has had an article accepted by a national magazine and appears in its August issue, it was learned today.

His article, "A Real Strong Man at Seventy-five," will be in the August issue of Strength and Health magazine. It was written as a term assignment for the modern feature writing class at the the college, under the direction of John H. McCoy, journalism director.

Mather's story concerns the physical attributes of Stephen A. Clark, Santa Ana man known in the Southland as the "70-year-old strong man."

Twelve pictures, most of them taken by Mather, illustrate the article. Clark, 75 years of age, exhibits his physical strength each year on his birthday. It was this which was the incentive for the article, it was said.

URGE BOARD TO RESTORE PAY CUTS

Supervisors May Make Answer Next Week

The salary stew at the court-house was nearly at the boiling point today, and probably will be dished out within the next few days by the board of supervisors—with revisions which will help the little fellow and straighten out inequalities.

Supervisors N. E. West and John Mitchell, the board's salary committee, indicated they might bring up results of their survey next week. Salary revisions probably will be included in the 1937-38 budget.

They popped back at the Santa Ana Business Men's association yesterday when the latter organization presented a resolution favoring a restoration of depression courthouse pay cuts. After the resolution, signed by Phil M. Brown and H. P. Rankin, was read, the board moved to ask the B. M. A. for a list of its salaries. "They have comparable jobs down there to some of those in county offices," remarked Mitchell, "and the information might help us."

Nora Allen, probation officer, told the board in another letter that she was not including any pay raises in her budget, but felt that the board would make the necessary adjustments.

West and Mitchell have collected figures from other counties and are classifying jobs at the courthouse with a view to equalizing salaries in all departments.

Two Parties Given For Visitor

Mrs. Stanley Clem Is Inspiration for Affairs

The departure of Mrs. Stanley Clem, former Santa Ana who has been visiting friends here for the past several weeks, has occasioned several delightful affairs recently. Mrs. Clem plans to leave Saturday for Prescott, Ariz., where she and her husband will remain for a month before continuing on to their own new home in Phoenix.

Most recent was a luncheon party given by Mrs. Ray Lambert in her pretty Tustin home. Two vivid shades of hibiscus gave color to the luncheon table, and later guests were seated in the patio overlooking the beautiful garden. Great jars of flowering eucalyptus offset the comfort and attractiveness of gay garden furniture.

Guests of Mrs. Lambert were Mrs. Charles Swanner, Mrs. Robert Mize, Mrs. George Raymer, Mrs. Muriel Morthland of Los Angeles, Mrs. William Rohrbacher, Mrs. Sam Long, Mrs. J. E. Allen, and Mrs. L. R. Wilson.

Earlier in the week was an enjoyable affair given by Mrs. A. E. Koetsel and Mrs. Ed Brannen. The latter is also a former Santa Ana who now makes her home in Riverside. Their party was held in the lovely Suddaby home on Lemon Heights, and was really a get-together of members of a Wednesday Afternoon Sewing club that met for more than a dozen years.

Guests spent the afternoon in casual conversation, and were later served refreshments in the dining-room, which was decorated with lovely dahlias, verbena, and other colorful flowers.

A most interesting feature of the day was the making of a pewter plate by Mrs. Elwood Bear. Everyone present autographed the metal, and Mrs. Bear put the finishing touches on the pretty decoration before presenting it to Mrs. Clem.

Gathered to honor Mrs. Clem were Mrs. Sam Long, Mrs. Elwood Bear, Mrs. John Daneri, Mrs. Ray Lambert, Mrs. Harlow Billingsley, Mrs. Ralph Hostettler, Mrs. Margaret Suddaby, Mrs. John Sauer, and the two hostesses.

BRIDE-TO-BE HONORED WITH RECEPTION, TEA

Implements for the kitchen of her new home were showered on Miss Dorothy Mayhew of San Bernardino early this week when she was the guest of honor at a reception and tea in the Lewis Williams home, 2401 Santiago street.

Miss Mayhew will become the bride of Keith N. Lee, 876 Cypress street, Santa Ana, in August. They will make their home in Orange where Mr. Lee is in business.

Cohostesses for the party were Mrs. Williams and her mother, Mrs. Mary J. Parks. Bouquets of pink and white gladioli set throughout the home formed a dainty background for the colorfully-clad guests and hostesses.

Mrs. H. F. Mayhew, mother of the bride-to-be, and Mrs. E. K. Lee, mother of the groom-elect, presided at the tea urns during the afternoon. Mrs. Mayhew wore a cool white printed crepe dress, while Mrs. Lee was gowned in printed chiffon.

Miss Mayhew wore a dark blue crepe frock. Mrs. Williams was in crisp brown and white organdy, and Mrs. Parks in navy blue crepe.

Guests at the reception included Mrs. Ray Hogan and Mrs. Doris Greenwald of Los Angeles, Mrs. Charles Baugh of Long Beach, Mrs. H. F. Mayhew of San Bernardino, Mrs. Marvin Parks of Fullerton, Miss Janet Mower of Bala, Mrs. Edna Boone, Mrs. E. K. Lee, Mrs. Etta Parks, Miss Patsy Williams, and the two hostesses, all of Santa Ana.

SORORITY HAS MEETING

Delta Theta Chi members enjoyed an informal meeting this week in the home of their president, Miss Betty Vorce at 1125 Orange avenue. They discussed in part plans for Fall chapter's part in the California convention which will be held Oct. 23-24 in Los Angeles.

Gathered for the evening which ended with refreshments were the Misses Irene Ross, Norma Kenny, Leone Baxter, Mildred Louder, Marjorie Walton, Anne Detweiler, Frances Hill, Virginia Taylor, and the hostess.

GARDENIAS FOR EVENING

PARIS.—Dining at Maxim's recently, Mademoiselle Chanel wore one of her famous head-dresses, a bouquet of five or six gardenias on a veil of black tulle. The veil shaded the eyes and fell down to the shoulders. The dress was white crepe with long sleeves and a slight decollete, and had a ribbon sash. The "jewels" were a long necklace of white gardenias.

Young Man Must Face Mother's Wrath if He Marries Girl He Loves

Positively never do I take sides with a boy or girl under legal age against parents!

When a son reaches his twenty-first birthday, according to law, he becomes a man and can vote, carry on legal transactions, and marry the girl of his choice, too, with or without mother's or dad's approval.

Therefore, the young man who writes the following letter must stand upon his own two feet and use his own head in making the important decision as to whether to marry the girl he loves or to wait awhile:

Dear Miss Stoddard: I am a young man 21, a university graduate and have been faced with a perplexing problem the past year.

My life has been an odd and rather unnatural one for a young youth. My father died when I was two years old and I was raised alone by my mother, a refined, highly educated and intellectual woman.

At the age of 16 I left her and started my higher education. I educated myself through a means which she has always called a disgrace to her position in life. It was NOT disgraceful—merely an association with a cruder class of people than fitted her idealistic temperament. I travelled all over the world during the summers, in this capacity, and while I did not relish my associations, nevertheless, I kept faith in myself in every way.

A year ago I gave this up and as luck would have it, fell in love with a girl two years my senior, a young school teacher with an enviable character and reputation. The feeling was mutual and we disregarded the slight age difference because of my kind of life and worldly experience I had seemed to mature more than most young men. Ours became a beautiful spiritual companionship, such a delightful contrast to my previous life and contacts and we were together constantly, except when I would go to the city in which my mother lived, to visit her.

My fiancée has been brought up in a certain faith, but has admitted to me that she has only stayed with it because of her aged father. My mother, is rabid, and can be biased in the other direction. She is terribly opposed to my association with the girl and makes all sorts of unkind and insulting remarks about her. She also unjustly accuses her of things which are not true.

In a matter of fact, my relationship with the girl is one of the things that makes me want more out of life and to succeed in a better fashion than I would otherwise demand of myself. My mother constantly refuses to meet the girl on all occasions and has talked against our relationship to relatives so much that I can never visit them in the company of the girl. Whenever I go home to visit my mother she argues with me by the hour that it is "either that girl or me" and "I will not have her brought into the family" or "I don't care if you go with a girl, but not a girl who is older than you—she can only ruin your life by an insistence on an early marriage." She found out that the girl had been engaged once before—and she had—and this fact makes my mother all the more positive that she is "just out for a man" and "that she is not worthy of the family."

The condition threatens to ruin things for myself and the girl, because I feel an allegiance to my mother because of the fact that my father is dead and because in every respect she had been a wonderful mother. But the girl and I are two intelligent, educated people and know that marriage is an economical function as well as emotional—and would wait 10 years if it were necessary. She has insisted on that especially. My mother insists in having no faith at all in my judgment and integrity in the whole matter and

Dinner Party Fetes Star Officers

Mrs. Max Gowdy and Courtney Chandler, worthy matron and worthy patron of Santa Ana chapter of the Order of Eastern Star, joined together as host and hostess this week in entertaining their officers and committee heads of the year.

Invitations were issued for a dinner party in the Masonic temple, where, with the assistance of Mr. Gowdy and Mrs. Chandler, the two had arranged a beautiful long table, decorated with white pottery vases of white flowers. ## FEDERATED CLUBS TO STUDY BIBLE

Bible study as an activity for all clubs throughout the state during the next two years will be stressed by Mrs. Dorsey M. McBride of North Hollywood, chairman of the division of Bible literature for the California Federation of Women's clubs. Selected because of her successful handling of this department for Los Angeles district as well as for her own personality, tolerance, and respect for all religious thought, which she hopes will be inspired by an unbiased study of the "Book of Books," Mrs. McBride inaugurates the first state division of Bible literature.

Cautioning club presidents to see to it that their departments are non-denominational, non-sectarian, without doctrine and without creed so as not to offend the most sensitive thought, Mrs. McBride outlines an attractive course of study to include the history of the Bible and its background; the sense of unity and the division of the Bible as literature; its poetry, and opera and music based on the drama in the Bible. Admonishing district chairmen to remember all denominations do not pray alike, she advises the useage of the Lord's prayer; states also that denominational hymns have no place in club Bible classes, and advises the interviewing of every speaker in advance so it will be understood that all denominations and many nationalities are represented in the federation.

Mrs. McBride concludes with the statement that "love, tolerance and respect for each one in his individual interpretation of the Scriptures will bring a sweet sense of unity and the division of Bible literature will be a blessing to our federation."

ROSE OF RANCHO IS COMING TO PLAYHOUSE

In perfect tune to the gay rhythm of early California, "Rose of the Rancho" brings to the Pasadena Community playhouse stage, Aug. 2 to Aug. 7, the famous Belasco-Tully story of ranchero life.

The one cloud that flecks the ever-sunny sky of tranquility in the Pasadena production is the coming of the "gringo." But this cloud brings romance in the uniform of a young militia lieutenant and the rocky course of his love for the Rose inspires not only romance, but action.

Sinco Nov. 25, 1907, when Belasco produced "Rose of the Rancho" on New York's Broadway, the play has stood as the perfect picture of early California life. The highly colored progress of the play discloses the California kaleidoscope of dark-eyed legends, picturesque customs, the siesta and fiesta, and the aggressive American seeking to gain control of the land grants.

Pasadena's production of "The Rose of the Rancho" comes as the sixth play in the current drama festival series and is directed by Thomas Browne Henry, with Cristina Welles, Herschel Daugherty, Paul Regan Maxey, Carmen Morales and Richard Carpenter leading a cast of 50 players.

"Girl of the Golden West," current playhouse attraction, closes Saturday, July 31.

Stuff Eggs With Anchovies

NEW YORK.—When it comes to making out menus, and giving helpful suggestions about just what to serve, then Oscar of the Waldorf is your man. For 44 years he has been observing and catering to the tastes of gourmets from all over the world. And now one finds him with probably the best knowledge of foods ranging from special dishes which only a Maharajah can afford to simple foods for light suppers.

An added attraction for a summer luncheon or supper—and one that never fails to please, he says, is stuffed eggs provencale. And easy as pie to prepare. Here's now, straight from Oscar's own notebook:

Shell and split several hard-boiled eggs according to number of portions desired. Strain yolk and mix with equal parts mayonnaise and anchovy paste. Season with salt and stuff mixture into each half of egg. Place on a leaf of lettuce and a slice of tomato. Serve cold with a sauce made of two parts mayonnaise and one part catsup.

Etiquette Blunders Can Spoil Your Fun

Here Are Tips for Vacation Before you dance away, Miss Careless—haven't you forgotten something? Your etiquette?

You're the guest, you know, of the frowning young man. How delighted you were when he invited you to this "Saturday night" at the resort's nicest hotel. But now, when another asks for a dance, you float off without a word.

Mend your manners if you want to be invited again! Introduce the two men graciously. If the newcomer doesn't say to your escort, "Do you mind?" you say it. Then your escort waits with a smile instead of a frown.

Indeed you can't be too careful when you meet a new crowd. Just the way you enter the supper room counts. Precede your escort if there's a headwaiter, follow him if there isn't. And it's up to you—not your escort—to say when to leave any party.

Simple but so important! Let our 32-page booklet tell you what's correct—as guest, hostess, in public, traveling, visiting.

Send 10c for a copy of Etiquette for All Occasions to The Journal, Home Service, 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Crisp Cool Salad Nests

A WHOLE MEAL—Crisp curls of bacon lend a meaty touch to a salad plate of cheese-filled prunes. Extra salad dressing—some of it is mixed with the cottage cheese—may be passed in a bowl.

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
AP Feature Service Writer

The whole-meal-in-itself salad is a boon to the summer-harassed housewife.

With a little ingenuity she may combine the foods she usually serves as a main course into a very attractive salad. And that salad often may be assembled hours before serving time.

One of the most important ingredients in any salad is lettuce. And one of the most important qualities of lettuce is its ability to keep cool and crisp.

Remove the core with a sharp knife and hold the lettuce under a stream of cold water. Then carefully remove each leaf.

Lettuce cups may be made of lettuce treated in this way. Or leaves may be placed around the edges of a salad plate in the old-fashioned manner.

A new trick, however, is to fill each leaf and roll it together—and then place several rolls on each salad plate.

Full heads of lettuce, thoroughly rinsed in cold water with the wilted outside leaves removed,

Tasty Fish Dishes Are Well Liked

By JUDITH WILSON

According to an estimate of the bureau of fisheries, the average American eats only four ounces of fish a week. This is an average for everyone whether he eats fish or not. This is not enough, says the bureau, which is trying to acquaint the public with the economy and nutritive value of fish and shellfish and with proper fish cookery.

Perhaps the reason why so many people say they do not care for fish, is because so many cooks do not know how to prepare it. Fish needs skillful seasoning, quick cooking and a minimum of handling for best results. Try one of the following recipes for dinner one evening this week see what an ideal summer food fish can be.

BROILED HALIBUT

Have the halibut a little less than an inch thick, then cut the slice in two and remove the round bone. Melt 1 tablespoon butter in a shallow baking dish, lay the halibut slices in the dish and pour melted butter over it. Sprinkle with salt and paprika. Broil for 3 minutes on each side, without turning about 8 minutes or until nicely browned and done. Remove to a hot platter carefully with a pancake turner so the delicate flesh will not break. Garnish with parsley and lemon slices. Make a lemon-butter sauce by melting 3 tablespoons butter in a small saucepan and adding the juice of a lemon. Beat until frothy and pour over the hot fish. Well chilled grapes make an unusual, but delicious, accompaniment.

COLD BOILED WHITEFISH

Flounder, haddock or any white-meat fish weighing around 3 pounds can be used. Remove the head, tail and skin, wrap the filets in white cheesecloth and simmer gently in salted water to which the juice of a lemon has been added. Fifteen minutes cooking is usually sufficient. Drain and chill thoroughly. Arrange the fish in a nest of lettuce hearts and mask with a well-seasoned mayonnaise. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons minced parsley and paprika. Arrange an interesting border of sliced or stuffed hard-boiled eggs, sliced lemon, olives or sliced cucumber and sliced fresh tomatoes around the fish. This makes a nice main dish for a buffet supper or bridge luncheon.

Purple eye-shadow and platinum nail polish won't fool the public into thinking madame is 30 if she is 45.

But if madame would pay attention to the application of creams and conservative cosmetics she'd be more successful in preserving the illusion of youth.

movements on the neck are down; on the face up. Crepe throat will disappear under vigorous massage.

Rub tissue cream around the eyes, moving the tips of the fingers in an outward motion below the eyes, and an inward motion above the eyes.

Because eyes get smaller with age, and the lids drop, take hold of the skin above the eyebrows and push upward. A few motions like this morning and night will enlarge the eyes, and relieve drooping muscles.

Mme. Rubinstein suggests a beauty-mask of silk, which lifts sagging parts and tightens flabby spots.

It should be worn for about 20 minutes daily, or longer, if you're engrossed in a book, or soaking in a hot tub.

Finally for make-up! Place rouge high but don't put it on above the cheekbones, as it will tend to emphasize puffiness. Stick to the rose shades in make-up, since sun-tan colors accent sallowness.

Be conservative with lipstick. Outline the natural contour of the lips. If you don't have beautiful hands, choose natural or coral nail polish. Your restraint will be rewarded.

A little vinegar or lemon juice will add to the piquancy of greens. It should not be cooked into the greens, but sprinkled over them just before they are served.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—After going along happily in the belief that a handkerchief was for nose-blowing I had to run into John Macsoud.

Accustomed to the incredible in this town of movie magic, I found it difficult to believe that the films actually use technical advice on handkerchiefs. They said Macsoud was the man, and it's true.

When Jackie Cooper played the ragamuffin in "Big Boy," Macsoud was called in to decide, among other things, what type hanky a boy like that would cry into. For Jackie's tears Macsoud ordered a burial square, tattered and filthy, and pocketed his check. More complicated was "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," not only hankies but table linens passing under his scrutiny. He contributed to "Vogues of 1938," and when Rosita Diaz makes the Spanish picture, "La Vida Bohemia," Macsoud will supervise hankies, napery, and other linens used.

My visit to his shop—pictures being merely gravy to him—made me realize how far the handkerchief parade has passed me by. But he was kindly about it, assuring me that only in the past few years has the handkerchief made notable progress.

'DRAMATIZING' HANKIE

He is a big fellow, with astounding lore on the history of linens. He has been "in linens" all his life, following in family footsteps first taken in Syria. He and his wife have set out to "dramatize the handkerchief" in Hollywood, where everything, from poodles to pickles, must be "dramatized" or else.

He says there are between 300 and 400 different types of hanky besides the utilitarian variety—types for all occasions. And handkerchief-consciousness is spreading, in case you too didn't know. Just for information's sake, I asked him how many different types of hanky a really well-dressed man should have, and he thought perhaps a couple of hundred types would do. So we talked about movie stars, and Hollywood's handkerchief habits.

AMONG THE COLLECTORS

Handkerchief-collecting has a greater hold on the film famous than you'd suspect. Jeanette MacDonald and Joan Blondell dote on their collections, and among the men—Belle Howard, Conrad Nagel and George Raft are inveterate hoarders.

Macsoud casually displayed a few little dainties which could be had for a hundred bucks apiece, and when I said "You're kidding," he said no, he was getting some others—$750—each but mainly for display, he admitted.

No movie star has yet invested in a $100 hanky. He's sold five in nine months, none to movie people. The stars, he observed, are more budget-minded than they used to be. Many will pay $10 to $12 apiece without batting an eye, although Hollywood does not disdain the kind I buy, either.

At the Theaters

With Pat O'Brien starred and ably supported by such players as Humphrey Bogart, Barton MacLane, Joseph Sawyer and Ann Sheridan, the powerful melodrama, "San Quentin" opens today at the Broadway theater with a second feature, "Love in a Bungalow."

"San Quentin" is a swift-paced melodrama concerning the prisoners, the life they lead, and the officers who guard them in the famous California prison. "Love in a Bungalow" is said to be a heart-warming comedy, featuring Nan Grey, Kent Taylor, Jack Smart and Hobart Cavanaugh.

WALKER'S

A phase of navy life thus far untouched in the movies forms the theme of "Wings Over Honolulu," opening today at Walker's theater for a three-day run along with "Big Business."

South Sea romance, a dramatic story of a beautiful navy wife who is lashed by the tongues of gossip, and the theme of the navy film, Wendy Barrie, Ray Milland and Kent Taylor head the cast.

"Big Business" stars the Jones family, getting tangled in an oil promotion deal. Jed Prouty, Shirley Deane, and Spring Byington are included in the cast.

Also on the bill is the latest issue of the March of Time and a newsreel.

PRINCESS

Johnny Mack Brown, handsome Western hero, heads a fast-shooting cowboy cast in "The Gambling Terror," opening today at the Princess theater. Also on the bill is "I Cover Chinatown."

The Chinatown film stars Norman Foster, versatile actor who both starred in and directed the film. Arthur Lake plays the comedy role of an insurance agent who turns up unexpectedly at the most dramatic moments.

WOMAN ARMY MEDICO

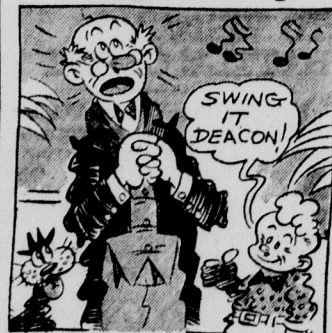

On July 5, 1813, a smooth-faced, slim-waisted young graduate of Edinburgh University scrawled the signature, James Barry, M. D., in the records of the British army medical staff and became hospital assistant. Promoted to assistant surgeon two years later, Dr. Barry was made a staff surgeon at the Cape of Good Hope in 1827, was transferred to Jamaica, and subsequently saw service in Antigua, St. Helena, Barbados, and Trinidad.

Stationed at Corfu in 1851, the doctor was made deputy-inspector general; on September 25, 1857, was promoted to the post of inspector-general of all Canadian military hospitals, and a few years later became inspector-general of all British hospitals, the highest post in the medical service.

Not until death came in 1865, did anyone discover the medical officer's amazing secret. Strange as it seems, Dr. Barry was a woman masquerading in men's clothes!

Judge Stump

Dear Judge: Did you ever discover a church deacon who stuck to the tune, instead of trying a he-alto, when singing hymns? MARGERY G.

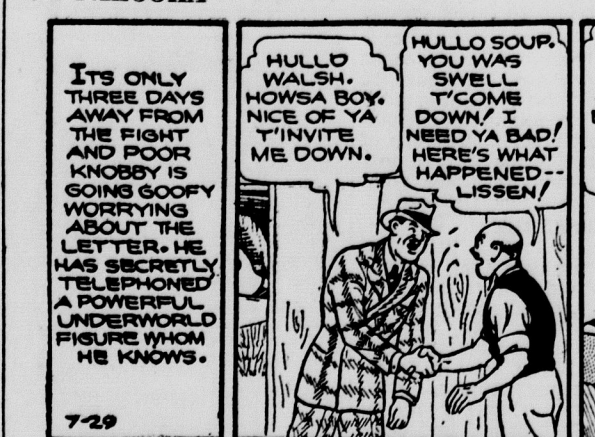

Deacon Harry Gobble of Costa Mesa has stuck to the tune. He is flat-footed and can't rock up and down on his toes like the deacons who sing he-alto. Technically speaking, he can't even get off the ground, let alone gain altitude. STUMP.

Use String For an Effective Popcorn Bedspread

PATTERN 5908

Here's an heirloom popcorn bedspread that's going to lend richness to your bedroom—just see how effectively that striking popcorn motif is set off by the lacy mesh background. It's fascinating work—crocheting the individual squares of durable string and once you've learned one you won't want to stop until all the squares are finished and joined into a spread of unusual beauty. In pattern 5908 you will find instructions for making the square shown; an illustration of it and of the stitches used; material requirements; a photograph of the square.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Santa Ana Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 E. Fifth St., Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

Restore County Salary Cuts

The Journal wants to put itself squarely on record as being in favor of straightening out the salary mess at the courthouse.

First of all, we would like to see the supervisors restore the pay cuts that were lopped off the paychecks of small-salaried workers back during the depression.

Times have changed since then. The cost of living is several notches higher and it seems to be tied to a balloon. Every man and woman who has rent to pay, taxes to meet and grocery bills to care for knows that.

This rise in the ordinary expenses of existence has been toughest of all upon the small-salaried employee—whether he is working for a private company or for the County of Orange.

The situation is bad and can be corrected quickly in the case of the county.

We also want to see a better salary break given to the chief deputy officials.

Many of the chief deputies in various departments are invaluable public servants, with years of faithful and efficient service to their credit.

Yet some of these head deputies, upon whom the burden of so much of the bread and butter work falls, are drawing only about $150 to $180 per month while their superior officers—generally holding political jobs—receive $300 per month or better and step out for coffee whenever they want to. It isn't fair.

Another inequality that should be evened up—if it is true—is the unjust practice of paying stenographers and clerks of similar ability about $75 in one department, while the department across the hall doubles the figure.

People who work at similar jobs for the county should get similar paychecks, taking into consideration, of course, the difference in their individual abilities.

This business, however, of reimbursing one employee with a penurious salary, while another one of equal capacity and responsibility gets twice as much, is unsound.

The supervisors should take this reported condition under consideration when they dig into the matter, which we hope will be very soon.

We do not know what the total cost would amount to if the depression pay cuts were restored at the courthouse. A figure of $70,000 has been quoted.

But this much is certain.

Times have changed a lot since the black days of 1930.

Salaries, wages and living costs everywhere are higher.

One Year of War

One year ago this month the Spanish civil war started. As it spread, and as the toll of death mounted in Europe, it looked as though another world war was about to start.

Germany and Italy backed the rebels, while Russia got behind the government. Men and guns were poured into Spain by these larger nations until that war-torn country became, to a large extent, a fenced-in battleground for Mussolini and Hitler on one side and Stalin on the other.

Incident followed incident, and with each one it seemed as though the general conflict was about to start.

But, apparently, there is so far an unwritten agreement to keep the fighting localized in Spain, and a year has passed without it spreading any further.

That is the one good thing about the Spanish war—a good thing, that is, as far as anything can be good about war.

Europe, at the moment, seems to have agreed upon this isolation formula as the best way of handling the Spanish situation. So far, for the rest of Europe, it has worked.

America, too, has a formula. That is to mind our own business and, no matter how much the propagandists on each side plead, to stay out of the quarrel.

That has worked for us, also, during this year of Spanish war. If we continue to stick to that resolve we will find peace will still remain on this side of the ocean.

Readers who are tired of the old war in Spain can now enjoy the new one in China.

Extra Driving Rules

There are several features that aren't included in state highway codes. They come under the heading of courtesy and you'll not be arrested if you break them. But those motorists who obey them are true aristocrats of the road.

Here they are:

Don't sound your horn if the car ahead of you doesn't speed away as the signal light flashes green. Maybe his car hasn't the speedy pickup yours has.

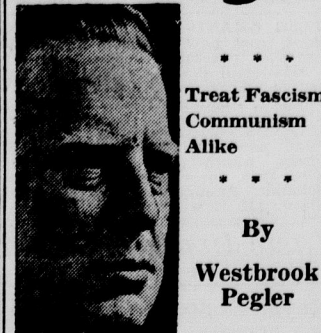

Don't curse the motorist whose car prevents you from getting a good start on a hill. Maybe he couldn't help it.

Don't treat pedestrians as though they are down-trodden reptiles. The worm may turn. Perhaps you'll be afoot tomorrow.

Don't forget that courtesy pays on the highway. Good manners are just as important when you're sitting behind a steering wheel as when you're seated at a dining room table.

If there has to be another war, we hope it stays in China.

Treat Fascism Communism Alike

By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK.—It would simplify matters in our resistance to that formless and somewhat exaggerated menace known to the trade as subversive alien influence, if we should consolidate those two influences—Communism and Fascism—and treat them as one and the same thing. In practical effect they are the same.

Nazism, of course, is merely a German imitation of Fascism, with certain special features suited to the spiritual peculiarities of the Germans. Hitler copied Mussolini's black-hand method of organization, which Mussolini borrowed from the Sicilian terrorists, and the Nazi salute is exactly the same as the Italian gesture, except that the German is rather shame-faced about it and has reduced it to a perfunctory flip of the hand.

ONE DIFFERENCE

The Nazi differ from the Fascist in one important respect, and this difference makes them almost identical with the Communists, whom they affect to detest. The Fascists protect the Christian religion as a matter of practical politics, but the Nazis are anti-Christian and, in spots, aggressively pagan. They feel that Christianity provides a common tie with other peoples whom they may be required to kill, so to prevent fraternalism from extending beyond their borders they have tried two methods. The first, appealing to the majority of the people, holds that Jesus Christ had a special affection for that geographical area known as Germany and a hate for all human beings residing outside that zone.

The other, propagated by old General Ludendorff and Adolf Hitler's special bodyguard, known as the Black Corps, insist that Christianity is nonsense and that there are special gods, local to the country, who are much better, because, being nationalistic and unchristian, they will not be accepted by any other race. Thus, there would be no common religious tie with the enemy in time of war, and it would be a religious duty of the pagan Nazi to kill all infidels whether Christian, atheist, Mohammedan or Jew.

LITTLE FREEDOM

The fascists, however, demand certain services or certain acquiescences amounting to the same thing, in return for protection of the Christian religion. Christianity in Italy is compelled to serve a political system which is repugnant to the Christians of the free countries, and a constant menace to their peace and their lives. So Christianity's freedom under fascism is only nominal, and is purchased at a high price.

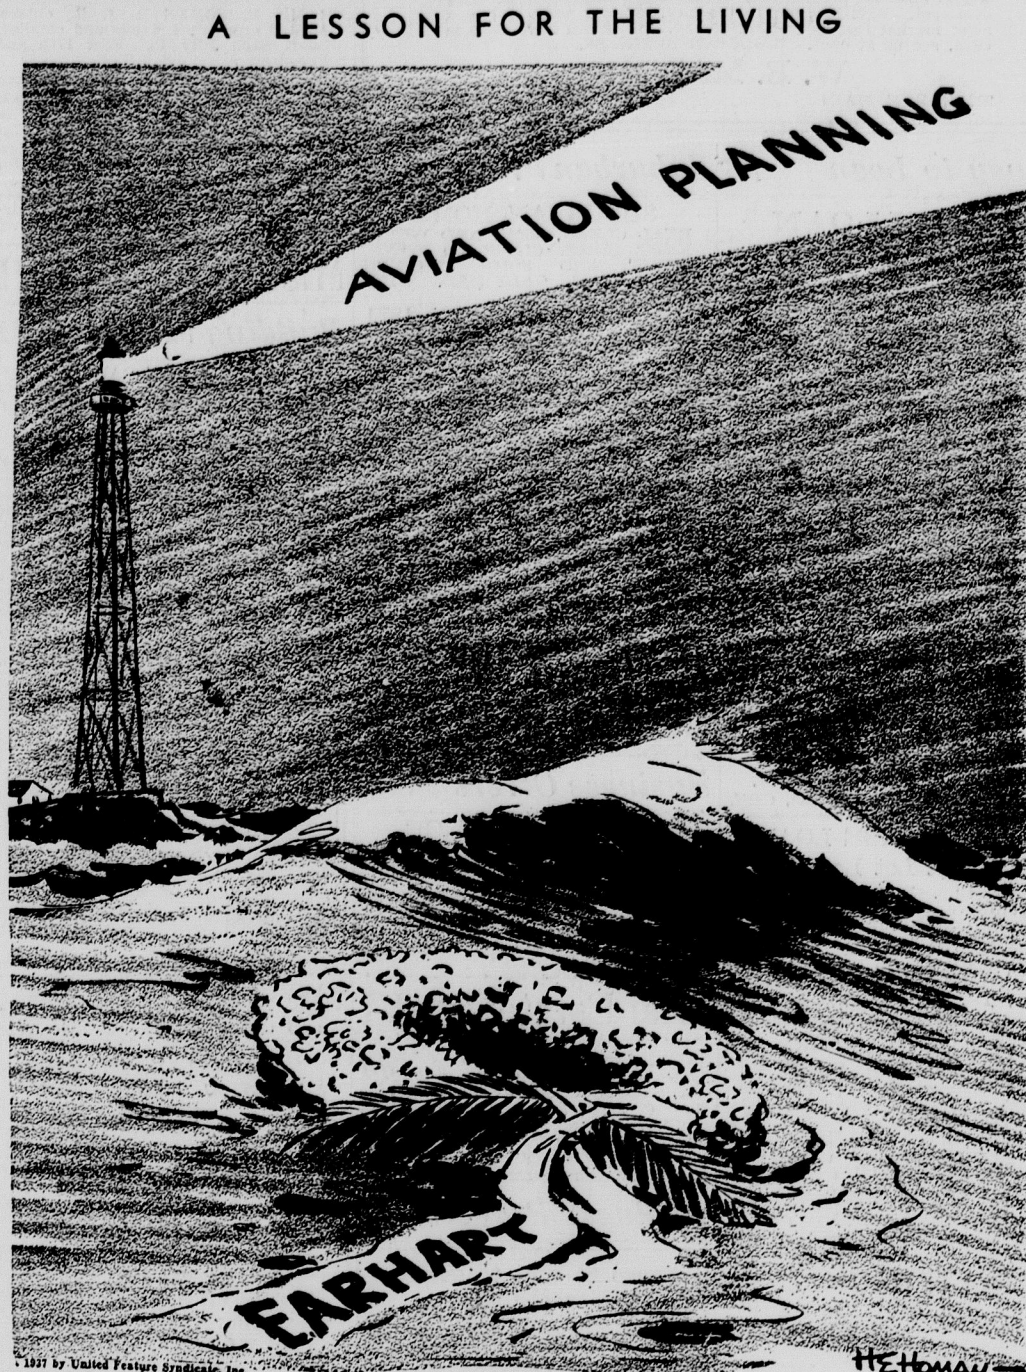

The Russian communists have no god unless it be the mummy of Lenin, and they suppress all religious tendencies.

There are the apparent differences between the subversive influences. True, the fascists pretend to keep hands off the family and the home, but little boys are taken into military training at the age of 6, and the education of the young constantly points them in the direction of war. And any father, mother or clergyman who tells a child that it was wrong, and not God's will that Italians go a-killing in Abyssinia or Spain, where certainly Italy has looked for trouble and not the offended party, had better have the door slammed in his face. The Italian teaching of children strives to imbue the kids with the desire to shoot people and the motto of Italian youth, lettered on their neckerchiefs and on the hilts of their toy daggers is not "We Play Fair," or "We Do No Harm," or "We Shoot Straight."

ALL ENEMIES OF U. S.

But so far as government and human rights and property rights are concerned, Communism, Fascism and Nazism are all alike, and all enemies of the American ideal of democracy. Hitler does business and enjoys great prestige with his people as the arch-enemy of Communism, but if he and Mussolini were to get together with Stalin of Russia in an honest meeting they would find that they have no quarrel at all. They all believe in the same things and use the same methods. Mussolini is no more religious than Hitler or Stalin, was not married until after his children were full grown, and married then only for political reasons.

Communism, Fascism and Nazism forbid freedom of thought, speech and the press. They forbid labor to organize; they have no parliament; they do not permit the people to vote; they suppress opposition in thought, word and deed by execution or exile, and private property does not exist. Mussolini and Hitler started out to suppress Communism, but each suppressive measure that they adopted was taken from the enemy, and they have only succeeded in imitating the common foe. Now they are all the common enemy of democracy, all alike, and divided only by rivalries.

WASHINGTON.—Herman Ridder, Democratic national treasurer in 1908, told the senate committee he was the largest individual contributor to Bryan's fund, to which he raised and gave $37,000, said Bryan made the rule that no one should contribute more than $10,000. Total expenditures of the campaign were $620,000. Neither August Belmont nor T. F. Ryan contributed to Bryan's fund, said Ridder.

What it cost the taxpayers of Orange county to conduct the county's business for the year ending July 1, 1912, is set forth in a detailed report by the county auditor just completed. Total amount of all warrants drawn by the auditor for the year ending July 1 was $966,886.85. In addition to the above, the county has paid to the state the sum of $39,587.85 for taxes due state and state institutions.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—Despite the navy's official announcement that Amelia Earhart is lost, it will take a long time before her husband, George Putnam, gives up hope.

Putnam has an unshakable confidence in his wife's skill, and he has pointed out to intimate friends that if she reached one of the thousands of islands which dot the South Pacific or was picked up by a Japanese fishing boat, it would be weeks before she could communicate with the outside world. None of the fishing boats carry radio equipment, and to them a good catch of fish is more important than rescuing a mysterious stranger.

Whether Putnam's confidence is justified or not, those who have flown with Miss Earhart say she is one of the toughest, most wiry and tireless women who ever lived, and if marooned would survive by any means. Fred Noonan, Miss Earhart's navigator, said she drank, and ate little. She had nerves like iron, and an uncanny sense of direction.

NO. 1 AVIATRIX FLOORED

Eugene Vidal, ex-director of the bureau of air commerce, and Bill Briggs, of Eastern Airlines once flew with her to the Great Lakes in their hotel suite. Between courses, Vidal, former West Point football star, inaugurated a series of tricks, one of which consisted of lying down backward on the floor while balancing a tumbler of water on the forehead.

The others all got a shower bath when they tried it, but Miss Earhart lay back on the floor without spilling the tumbler. In the middle of performance, the waiter, entering, looked a bit shocked at the sight of America's No. 1 aviatrix stretched out on the floor with a glass of water on her forehead.

Another trick was turning a somersault over the back of a chair, which Miss Earhart again performed with greater dexterity than the others, though once again the waiter entered just as America's No. 1 aviatrix was in a most undignified position.

Another trick was to toss pennies into a row of tumblers while blindfolded. Miss Earhart did this so well that Vidal and Briggs noisily moved the table (the glasses on it) farther away. But Miss Earhart, blindfolded, immediately sensed that the table had been moved, and successfully tossed the pennies at its new location.

ADVANCE PREPARATIONS
Although a superb pilot, Miss Earhart's friends say she was not as careful in her advance preparations as Colonel Lindbergh.

For instance, neither she nor Noonan was competent to send radio messages. During the Pacific flight the Coast Guard vessel Itasca several times radioed her asking her to stop using voice and use the ship's radio code channel instead. However, she kept on using voice.

Naval radio experts credit almost none of the reports from amateur radio operators that they heard the Earhart plane. They say that, with the plane's engines stopped, Miss Earhart could not send farther than 300 miles. The plane would have had to have reached an island, and got the engines running despite lack of fuel, in order to have had sufficient strength for any long-range radio transmission.

One Man's Opinion

WE, THE TRAPPERS

By X REPORTER

A very fine young friend of mine is in a jam with the law.

He and another boy—both about 13 or 14—"stole" about a dozen automobiles. The law says "stole." The boys thought they were taking the cars "for a little ride."

In each case they left the automobile in another part of town and walked to their homes. Police caught them, or one of them, driving a shiny big car across one of the town's main intersections. The little fellow who was driving it was almost invisible down behind the wheel. That fact, probably, is what attracted the cop's attention.

I know you are probably still wondering about the designation in the first sentence of this piece, "a fine young friend." I won't retract any part of it. The boy is still my fine friend.

Oh, yes, I know that kids are getting more and more devilish about cars, that it is an awful strain on a car owner to have his property stolen, that police departments are harassed to death almost by the pranks of juvenile joy-riders. And I also know that in the good old days they used to hang horse thieves or shoot them dead. A horse was a man's transportation, and sometimes his very life depended on having his horse where he'd left him, and all that sort of thing.

This is not a plea for especially tender consideration of young scalawags who make off with a man's automobile when his back is turned. Not at all.

I'm most happy, however, that I am not called upon to fix the punishment for such rascals. Fact is, if I were still living in the city where my fine young friend dwells, I should most certainly be trying to get the juvenile court judge to parole him in my custody, and doing whatever else I might to make amends to him for the trap we all set for him.

Trap? Yes, trap. Every one of us who leaves an automobile outside, especially in the evening, unlocked and with a key in the switch, has laid a devilish trap for "a fine young friend" of somebody or other. The blame is at least 51 per cent on us who do that lazy thing.

It's a good thing there weren't any autos when I was 13 or 14. Especially unlocked ones. I'd have had a fleet of them.

The Algonquin has the oldest bartender in the town. Past 70, he has been mixing drinks for more than 50 years. He was at the old Metropole at Prince and Broadway during the 1888 blizzard and for a long time mixed toddies for the sports at Niblo's Garden. But his years make him look a trifle out of focus in the surrounding picture of collegiate bartenders today. Most of them are in their 20's, bright-talking boys who know all the answers but from whom we hear know very little about fashioning the fizzes.

The Mickey Finn, long an antidote for the barroom pest, still has a few able practitioners. But it is rarely used in the bars. The night clubs employ it when the bouncers' requests for quiet fail. It is an innocuous tasting drink containing an emetic that makes the drinker suddenly bolt for the wash room.

GAMBLING IN LOS ANGELES

(Orange Daily News)

Mayor Shaw of Los Angeles has issued a rather significant statement in regard to gambling in Los Angeles city and county.

"Legalized race track gambling in California has made this state, and Los Angeles in particular, the focal point of easy money makers," he said.

"The problems of police defense against the inevitable vices which follow race track gambling have increased despite the fact that our police budget and force have remained substantially as it was 10 years ago."

What Mayor Shaw says of Los Angeles county is likewise true of Orange county. In this county, the policing of an unincorporated area of 50,000 population is in the hands of a dozen deputies. The vice problems which have come to Los Angeles county have likewise come to Orange county. Only by the most persistent effort has it been possible to keep the gambling element under control.

The sheriff of Orange county has been able to maintain that control with an inadequate force and in the face of attacks very often inspired by gambling and vice interests. That he has the support of the decent elements of Orange county goes without saying. That he must have the active and aggressive support of these elements is clear.

Orange county has so far stood off the invasion of those interests of which Mayor Shaw warns. It should be the business of law-abiding citizens to give assurance to the enforcement officers of this county that the people of Orange county stand squarely behind them.

When you have done laughing, remember how they laughed at Lincoln 80 years ago.

The Republican party is looking for a leader. When it finds him, he will be a new man, never before identified with Republican factional politics.

He should be a veteran of the World war. He should have some congressional and executive experience. He should be absolutely unhampered by the clogging traditions of the party and he should be of a habit of mind that is free to meet and solve present-day problems under present-day conditions. He should be able to appeal to the common man, to the man in the street, to the average man, to the man who starts in the roundhouse and becomes a wizard of industry and to the man who starts in the roundhouse and stays there.

He should be the modern Lincoln, coming out of the back alleys as Lincoln came out of the back woods.

There is one such man in the United States. His name is Fiorella LaGuardia.

NEW YORK.—The news-reels more than any other barometer, show how the winds are blowing for People Who Matter. In the neighborhood houses as well as those patronized by a more ultra audience on Madison avenue there seems no restraint in giving the cheer or the bird.

Here the public may see and hear how the populace grows hot and cold for their idols. Not many retain high favor long. Once there were only groans for Chief Justice Hughes but today the groans are drowned by the hurrahs. Hitler and Mussolini get mixed ovations. Mostly jeers.

Al Smith, for a time hoisted, has come back into favor and is received as warmly as ever he was before he threatened to take his famous stroll. For a time there was only silence for Jimmy Walker but they soon forgot and are applauding him again with fervor. Young LaFollette is given the raspberry.

John L. Lewis comes in for a 70-30 reception, 70 hoots and 30 huzzahs. The President, before and after his re-election, received only enthusiastic salvos. But today in certain localities they are not so respectful. There are many who resort to the boo.

BRIGHT MOMENTS

The Duke of Wellington had posed for a portrait painter of great reputation, and everything had apparently gone well enough. After the final sitting, Wellington was told to return on such and such a day for his picture. When he did, he observed that in one particular it was not correct. The artist inquired regarding the fallacy, and Wellington remarked that he had never worn gloves, but that the picture showed him with one in his left hand. "But it is of no consequence," he added, "I don't wish it altered; I really ought to wear them."
